SMEDLEY D. BUTLER TO BACK ROOSEVELT

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa., July 7.—(AP)—Major General Smedley D. Butler, a republican and an outspoken dry, said tonight he would vote for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt for president.

He declined to amplify the bare statement, however, or to discuss his reasons for supporting the democratic nominee.

The general campaigned unsuccessfully in the republican primary last April for the United States senate seat of James J. Davis. He maintained in his campaign that the difference between him and his opponent, who favored prohibition modification, was a minor consideration and that the principal issue was economic.

Friends expressed the opinion that his endorsement of Governor Roosevelt, accordingly, was probably based on the governor's stand on economic questions.

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.
NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—An organization of "more than 1,000,000 women of both political parties," banded together in a war on the eighteenth amendment, was placed behind the presidential candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt today by its executive committee.

Announcement of the decision was made by Mrs. Charles H. Sabie, herself once a republican leader, at the conclusion of a seven-hour meeting of the executive committee of the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

Mrs. Sabie is national chairman. "We urge," said a formal resolution, "members of this organization because they are committed to the cause of repeal, whether they be republicans or whether they be democrats, to give their support to the nominee of that party which favors the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Gathering in the quiet of a Long Island estate, 50 women, 20 of whom were described as republicans, debated the question of their position in the forthcoming campaign behind the closed library doors of the home of Mrs. Edward Small Moore, a committee woman.

Those attending represented 23 states and proxies were presented from all the other 19 states in which the organization has units, save Oklahoma. Adoption of the resolution was announced as unanimous.

Under a resolution adopted at the women's last national convention ratification by state branches is not necessary.

Meantime, at Albany, it became known Governor Roosevelt would not use his position as the democratic presidential nominee in behalf of beer bills or other prohibition legislation now before congress.

Mrs. Sabie, wearing a smart summer ensemble, gave out the text of the resolution adopted as photographers, newswriters and others gathered about her.

Her statement said: "The action taken today by the national executive committee of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform was merely to carry out the mandate of our national conference held in Washington, D. C."

American Fliers Lost On Berlin-Moscow Hop

BY STANLEY P. RICHARDSON.
MOSCOW, July 8.—(Friday)—(AP) James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, the American round-the-world fliers who started out so bravely by crossing the Atlantic in record time, were unreported and more than 24 hours overdue here this morning.

They had disappeared completely as though they were white and blue balloons that had gone sailing off into space.

The last heard of them was at 6:05 p. m. E. S. T., Wednesday, when they were sighted over Lake Wozey, near Hegeligen, on the German-Polish border. That was three hours and five minutes after they took off from Berlin with high hopes of greatly extending their margin over Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the round-the-world airmen whose record they set out to better.

Now they have fallen far behind Post and Gatty, Thursday midnight.

Accompanied by his father and an attorney, C. B. Childress, Jr., 20, of 1710 DeKalb avenue, surrendered to Atlanta police Thursday to answer charges of reckless driving which resulted in the death of Felton Allen O'Kelley, 17-year-old Tech High school student, and obtained his release on $2,000 bond.

A few minutes after he reached his home after the reckless driving charge had been set for hearing in September, Childress was taken in custody by DeKalb county officers on a suspended sentence violation charge, and late Thursday afternoon was on his way to the Atlanta city hall to answer charges of being found drunk on the streets.

O'Kelley was instantly killed and his companion, Miss Frankie Mae Davis, was injured when an automobile, admittedly driven by young Childress, struck them as they walked along the street in front of the young woman's home, 221 Whitford avenue.

Following the accident, police arrested Childress on charges of driving without a license and of driving on a suspended sentence.

GERMANY YIELDS WAR GUILT POINT AS DEBT PROVISOR

Delegation to Lausanne To Confine Negotiations to Question of Settlement of Reparations.

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER.
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 8.—(Friday)—(AP)—French and British delegates announced an agreement early today on the preamble of a reparations settlement with hope that the German delegation to the conference here, having relinquished all political demands, would accept it today.

The document contained allusions to the political aspects of the question, including a compromise on the "war guilt" clause in the Treaty of Versailles, it was understood, without engaging any powers on the subject.

Germany had sought elimination of what it called the "war guilt" clause. It also was understood that the French and British had decided to propose that Germany put up a bond of 3,000,000,000 marks (approximately $750,000,000), which would take the place of reparations.

The text of the preamble was distributed among the various delegations by Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, and Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, after the Franco-British accord was announced at 2:30 p. m.

The most stubborn obstacle in the way of a reparations agreement was cleared away tonight when the German delegation to the Lausanne conference announced that it had relinquished all political demands.

The Germans declared that, forgetting political aspirations, they would confine the negotiations here to the settlement of the reparations problem itself—that is, to its financial phases.

The German out-face was regarded as making sure the success of the conference.

Expectations tonight were that the Berlin government would reserve the right to take up political questions through the League of Nations at Geneva or by way of direct diplomatic representations.

In some quarters the German announcement was interpreted as a complete capitulation by Chancellor Franz von Papen.

With a Franco-German deadlock broken, it appeared possible that the conference would hold a plenary session Saturday for the purpose of initiating the agreement.

The German delegation was said to be prepared to reach a settlement on the amount—the German bond issue which will take the place of reparations—and an audit of the affairs of the country and other details remaining for future discussion.

One of the political demands the Germans have been making during the crucial negotiations of the last few days was that what is known in Germany as the "war guilt" be eliminated from the Treaty of Versailles.

The German announcement came as the possibilities of agreement seemed to be growing smaller and smaller. Spokesmen for the "big three"—Britain, France and Germany—admitted that yesterday's tentative accord had vanished.

Premier Edouard Herriot of France announced he had rejected an offer of the German government to accept the reparations plan proposed by the British.

Giant Prometheus Plunges to Bottom With Hatchets Open During Tests.

CHERBOURG, France, July 7.—(UP)—Sixty-one men died today when the new French naval submarine Prometheus, skimming through surface tests with hatchets open, plunged to the bottom seven miles off Cherbourg.

The Prometheus sank a scant two minutes after an unexplained explosion occurred on board, and the men within her steel sides had no chance for escape.

Lieutenant Goussier de Miesnil, commander of the craft, and six seamen, all on a small deck outside, were left swimming the sea and were rescued by a fishing boat which was cruising nearby. They had been dazed by the explosion.

The men who perished were seamen of the navy, and he quickly checked the submarine's tests.

Filled With Water.
Realizing that the Prometheus had filled with water and dropped 150 feet below the surface of the sea, the ministry of marine announced officially a few hours after the tragedy that there was no hope of saving those aboard.

Word of the disaster reached Cherbourg within a short time after the Prometheus disappeared from sight and the town was plunged into a state of turmoil. Dozens of small boats set out for the scene in the hope of rescuing the men who had struggled free of the sunken craft.

Maritime services sent all available craft but the French navy possesses no means of lifting the submarine from such depths.

Admiral Malavoy assumed immediate charge of rescue work and investigation of the tragedy. Commander de Miesnil, fully recovered, from the party.

Upshaw served four terms in the house as a democrat and was noted for his uncompromising support of all dry measures. In 1928 he supported Herbert Hoover against Alfred E. Smith. This is the first time he has been affiliated with the prohibition party.

In a speech accepting the nomination he reflected the opinion of party leaders by asserting he believed Senator Borah would agree to run for the presidency if the big dry organizations will give him their active support.

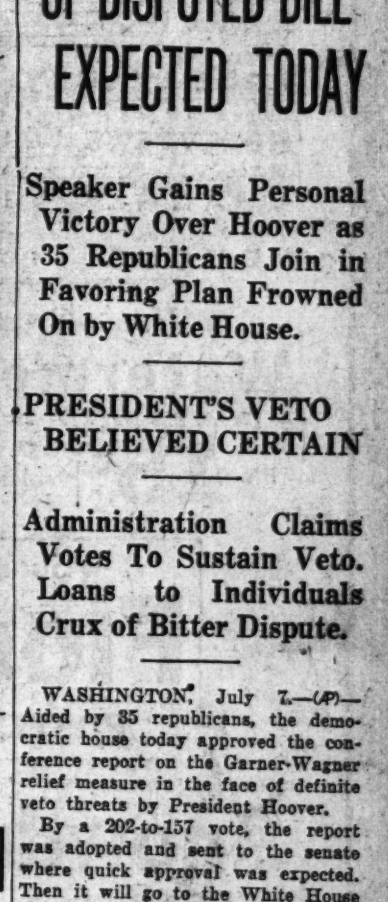

Borah's friends in Washington hold a contrary opinion. The national prohibition party and the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment will meet here next week in Washington. Those who had been seeking to name Borah the presidential candidate.

SENATE PASSAGE OF DISPUTED BILL EXPECTED TODAY

Speaker Gains Personal Victory Over Hoover as 35 Republicans Join in Favoring Plan Frowned On by White House.

By a 202-to-157 vote, the report was adopted and sent to the senate where quick approval was expected. Then it will go to the White House to clinch a heated controversy between the chief executive and Speaker Garner.

The house action was a triumph for Speaker Garner over President Hoover. Undoubtedly the relief measure will be an issue in the coming presidential campaign, when the democratic vice presidential nominee takes the stump against the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

Administration leaders pointed out that the total of 202 votes for the legislation falls short of the number required to override a presidential veto and claimed victory for the president on a second test if the bill is returned.

Senate leaders planned to call the conference report up tomorrow afternoon, with the expectation that the relief bill will be sent to the White House by nightfall.

Senator Robinson, the minority leader, called a conference of senate democrats for tomorrow morning to discuss the bill and decide upon a course of action.

The president had sought restrictions on loans to be made by the Reconstruction Corporation under its increased capital of $3,500,000,000.

Garner held out against extending the money should be advanced to anyone with adequate security.

The democrats lost only two votes, those of Representative Moorhead, Nebraska, and Reilly, of Wisconsin. Thirty-five republicans and the lone farmer-laborite, Kvale, of Minnesota, voted to support democrats for adoption of the report.

Penny Increase in Postage Rate Costing Atlantans $2,500 a Day

Inauguration of the additional one-cent stamp tax on first-class mail will cost Atlantans approximately $2,500 a day, it was estimated by postoffice officials Thursday. The so-called "penny tax" on mail will cause citizens in this city to dig down for $912,000 a year extra in mailing their letters.

The new postal rates, which went into effect Wednesday as part of the recently enacted economy bill passed by congress, has caused a run on one-cent stamps, postoffice officials said. Although there has been no actual shortage thus far in the green stamps, the Atlanta area, stamp clerks at the postoffice and its branches have been kept busy engaged by the demands of large business houses which found themselves supplied with two-cent stamped envelopes.

John K. Riley Jr., Atlanta representative of Eastern Air Transport, Inc., Thursday said he had received advice that a special E. A. T. plane Thursday had carried 5,000 one-cent stamps from Washington to New York to meet a shortage of stamps there. The stamps, weighing 450 pounds, Larry Pabst, former mail pilot on the Atlanta-Miami line, flew the plane, which made the 200-mile trip in exactly 100 minutes with the 250,000 cargo.

When it became known that the stamp provision of the economy bill was assured of approval, the postoffice department in Washington sent a hurry order to the government printing office for 1,000,000,000 additional one-cent stamps for delivery to the postoffice department on Wednesday. Also 4,000,000,000 new three-cent stamps were ordered.

Senators Play Pass-the-Buck in Lively Repartee on Beer

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—A bill to legalize beer containing 3.2 percent alcohol by weight was brought before the senate just before adjournment tonight and a vote is expected tomorrow on a dry attempt to rule it out of order or send it back to committee.

The beer "rider" to the home loan bank bill was called up by its sponsor, Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, at the end of a day of lively repartee on the prohibition debate. Senate prohibition supporters plan to make a point of order against the Bingham proposal on the ground it is unconstitutional or to seek to get it out of order.

Advocates were not optimistic tonight. In addition to those opposed to legalizing the brew several senators believed the proposal should not come up as a rider on the home loan bank bill.

Also scheduled for debate tomorrow is a resolution by Senator Barbour, republican, New Jersey, for repeal of the 18th amendment and return of the control of the liquor traffic to the states.

For two hours today, democrats and republicans in the senate engaged in a lively game of trying to induce the other party to take the lead in changing the prohibition laws in view of the planks adopted at the Chicago convention.

Succession of Triumphs, Tragedies Mark Career of Reynolds' Widow

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Libby Holman has been a life of clouds and depths. The husky-voiced former Broadway singer, reported prostrated over the tragic death of her 20-year-old millionaire husband, Smith Reynolds, has lived through poverty, wealth, ruinous failures and tragedies in her 28 years.

Not so long ago both Broadway and great wealth were far from her thoughts.

A day came when she lay in a hospital bed after a throat operation and saw her career blighted. Her voice was "ruined"—would never be natural again. She came to New York to specialize in French literature.

Then somebody discovered peculiar charm in her husky voice.

CANDIDATES TO GO TO MOULTRIE TODAY

Moultrie today will become the mecca for most of the 57 candidates for state offices and an all-day speaking there will divide time with a typical south Georgia tribute to the luscious watermelon.

From the Moultrie celebration, the candidates will scatter into different sections, a number of them being booked for two speeches on Saturday. Another week is expected to find several of the candidates for governor and the two candidates for the United States senate begin a speaking tour that will continue until September 14.

Congressman Charles H. Crisp, seeking the seat in the United States senate vacated at the death of Senator William J. Harris, will arrive in Atlanta Tuesday and Tuesday night will formally open his campaign with an hour's speech over radio station WGST, beginning at 8:15 o'clock central standard time.

Headquarters of Congressman Crisp will be opened Monday at the Piedmont hotel with W. W. Dykes, of Americus, in charge and with G. Ed Maddox, of Rome, as co-manager.

Miss Emily Woodward, of Vienna, will direct the campaign publicity. State Senator W. H. Duckworth, of Cairo, Thursday opened headquarters in the Piedmont near Marshall Allison, of Lavonia, in charge.

M. D. Collins, candidate for state superintendent of schools, passed through Atlanta Thursday en route to the Moultrie celebration and made the announcement that he has made 20 non-political speeches to date. He is to address the 67th annual Sunday school celebration at Mount Gilead Sunday.

ROFF SIMS FUNERAL

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon in St. Luke's Episcopal church for Roff Sims, widely known businessman and real estate salesman, who died Tuesday night at St. Joseph's infirmary. Dr. John Moore Walker officiated at the rites and interment was in West View cemetery.

Mr. Sims, a native of Macon, was prominently identified in business in that city prior to coming to Atlanta 30 years ago. He was connected with the B. M. Grant Company, here, and was a member of St. Luke's. He resided at 81 Peachtree place, N. E., and was 71 years old. Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Blanche Swift, and a son, Roff Sims Jr., who is associated with the Trust Company of Georgia.

R.E. Barry, Veteran P.O. Inspector,
To Retire After 42 Years' Service

R. E. Barry, dean of Atlanta division postoffice inspectors, will close his file of cases Sunday when he retires after 42 years in the service. It was announced Thursday at a conference of inspectors concluding the annual inspection of the Atlanta post office.

Mr. Barry, who will be 73 years old in October, lives at 430 Adams street, Decatur. He retires in accordance with recent legislation pensioning all postal employees who are past 70 years of age.

More than 50 inspectors of the Atlanta division heard with regret the announcement by Howard S. Smith, inspector-in-charge, that Mr. Barry will retire. The inspectors concluded a three-day annual inspection of the local postoffice with a meeting in Mr. Smith's office. Inspectors from all parts of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina were called in for the huge task of going through the local offices.

Mr. Barry, born in Alpharetta, was appointed to the postal service in 1888 when he went with the railway mail. He was assigned to postoffice inspection service in 1904. For a brief period he was superintendent of mails here, and was placed in charge of the postoffice inspection division in 1913, continuing as chief of the division until 1918. He has been granted two extensions of service, one being granted in 1909 when he turned in a picture of himself doing a high dive into a swimming pool at 70 years of age. Mr. Barry is planning some extensive fishing after his retirement.

GARNISHMENT RACKET ATTACKED BY SOCIETY

Resistance to what is termed a "garnishment racket" of alleged local loan sharks has been begun by the Atlanta Thrift Society located at 191-2 Peachtree street, according to J. L. R. Boyd, secretary and general counsel of the society. More than 800 notices have been sent to various personnel officers and paymasters of corporations in Atlanta, explaining the situation and asking them to take a more personal interest in the nature and character of garnishments attaching wages of their employees. "Most employers stick sturdily to the law," according to Mr. Boyd, "and pay moles not exempt into the courts and then employes regain its possession from persons claiming it illegally. However, some employers frustrate the protective policy of the law by withholding all pay until garnished employees obtain court releases. This policy of certain employers forces hundreds of employees to promise and sign anything to obtain such 'releases' from loan sharks and commercial crooks who run garnishments knowing that few persons can make the bonds which require unencumbered real estate in possession of the bondsmen."

HEARING SCHEDULED TODAY ON GARSAUD

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—Chairman Coudert today called a meeting of the senate interstate commerce committee for tomorrow to take up the nomination of Marcel Garsaud, of New Orleans, for reappointment as a member of the power commission. Action on Garsaud's nomination has been held up by the continued absence of Senator Huey Long, democrat, Louisiana, who is opposing confirmation. Coudert said Long had promised to be present tomorrow with his witnesses.

Agriculture Measure Is Signed by Hoover

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—President Hoover today signed the $175,000,000 agriculture department appropriation bill. Its provisions include $1,000,000 for federal participation in the Chicago Century of Progress exposition.

'Slave Market' To Aid Unemployed Gets Flying Start in Los Angeles

BY A. E. HARRIS.

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(AP)—The staccato bark of a charitable auctioneer crying for bids on his human wares echoed through the historic plaza today as Louis Byrens, philanthropist, opened his "slave market" to relieve unemployment.

Blocked by the city park department from conducting his "slave block" in Pershing Square, Byrens moved up to the heart of the Mexican quarter, where he succeeded in selling the services of eight persons at prices ranging from 53 1/2 cents an hour to 50 cents.

A sturdy 22-year-old youth, Emil Kaninsky, who said he wanted to study law but lacked the funds, stood beside a 27-year-old waitress, Vivian Roberts, and heard a candidate for assemblyman bid 50 cents an hour for her services. Kaninsky did not go unpurchased, however, as Byrens himself bid 35 cents an hour for the youth's services.

Roosevelt To Confer On Finances of State

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt Wednesday invited George W. Wickersham, president of the state economic council; John W. Davis and the heads of the state's leading business organizations to confer with him on the subject of cost of state government. He called the conference for the afternoon of July 13.

The governor has been giving much attention to the subject of governmental cost since the adjournment of the legislature last spring. It is known he desires to bring it sharply under the figure of recent years, more than $300,000,000, if possible. He must prepare the executive budget for the next year.

LOUISIANA LUMBERYARD IS SWEEPED BY FLAMES

HAMMOND, La., July 7.—(AP)—Fire which started early today in the yards of the Natchitoches Lumber Company mills near here continued to sweep the yards this afternoon despite the efforts of fire departments from several near-by towns to check the blaze.

Officials estimate that the fire had consumed 20,000,000 feet of hardwood lumber.

Effective July 11th southbound and July 12th northbound, sleeping car service will be discontinued on our Atlanta-Thomasville line.

UNITED FRUIT GROUP SCORED, DEFENDED

Institute of Public Affairs Hears Discussion of Industry Practices.

UNIVERSITY, Va., July 7.—(AP)—Conflicting views on the policies and practices of the large companies engaged in the development of the banana industry in the Caribbean were presented today by speakers before the University of Virginia institute of public affairs.

William K. Jackson, vice president of the United Fruit Company, in a paper read by H. L. Harris, advertising manager of the company, said the companies engaged in the banana business may well be regarded as great international institutions engaged in the promotion of international good will and devoted to the principles of fair play and mutual advantage in the markets of the world.

In opposition to this view, Charles D. Kenner Jr., author of "Stafford Springs, Conn.," charged that "in various ways the United Fruit Company has failed to respect the authority of nations in which it operates."

"It has obtained monopolistic power in countries which have laws against monopoly," he said. "It has built railroad branches without governmental authorization. It issues illegal differential freight rates, refuses to submit statistical reports as required and in other ways acts independently of regulations and supervisory officials."

Dr. Ernest Minor Patterson, of the University of Pennsylvania, told the institute that "proposals to increase the power of big business will meet with hostility and will increase the number and strength of radicals."

Dr. Patterson, who is professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania, and president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, asserted "that this is the time to maintain such safeguards as we may have for individual initiative and freedom of competition, not to remove them."

Speaking before the same round table Russell Palmer, publisher and editor of various trade journals, urged amendment of the anti-trust laws to provide that before proceeding against any combination in restraint of trade it shall be necessary for the government to establish a priority that it has resulted in unreasonable profit to the participants.

Relief Agency Helps Man Obtain Liberty

The so-called "red tape" involved in records of the agencies under the Community Chest Thursday was responsible for an innocent man on trial for his life being able to establish a perfect alibi, according to information received in Atlanta by Major J. Arthur Fynn, field secretary of the Salvation Army here from Cookeville, Tenn.

Major Fynn received from the prosecutor of the fifth Tennessee judicial district a wire requesting the exact date last spring upon which Ord Winningham, charged with murder, was alleged to have spent the night at the Atlanta Salvation Army home. Major Fynn wired back that it was on the night of April 12. He later learned that this was the alibi of Winningham and that it established his innocence of the charge.

JACOBS ACQUIRES NEW DRUG STORE

Announcement was made on Thursday that the Jacobs Pharmacy Company has bought the drug store on the ground floor of the Connally building, Whitehall and Alabama streets, which was for many years known as the Brown and Allen store. The store will be formally opened under its new ownership and management on next Saturday. Joe J. Fontana, experienced in the business, will be store manager, and Dr. A. S. Marshall will be in charge of the prescription department.

This store, in addition to having a prominent location, has one of the largest soda fountains in Atlanta—large enough to accommodate 100 customers.

The Jacobs Pharmacy Company began business in 1884 and now has nine stores within ten blocks of its main store at Five Points. It has 17 units in all.

BANKHEAD "SILENT" ON HOUSE AMBITIONS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., July 7.—(AP)—Congressman William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, today laid to "political gossip" reports that he would be a candidate to succeed Speaker Garner if the Texan is elected vice president next November.

"You can't keep political gossips from gossiping," the Alabama representative and ranking democrat on the house rules committee, said. "The words look like they are full of candidates." He neither denied nor confirmed the reports, however.

L. S. U. OFFICIAL FACES CHARGES OF DRINKING

BATON ROUGE, La., July 7.—(AP)—Called before city court to answer charges of being drunk and disorderly following his arrest in a fight at a downtown hotel, George C. Everett, local businessman and vice president of the Louisiana State University board of supervisors, secured a continuance of the case until July 13.

As the case was continued, Miss Louise Thomas, night club entertainer, who was questioned in connection with the hotel disturbance, filed an affidavit charging Everett with assault and beating.

Illness.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph Leidy, famed as one of America's leading neurologists, is dead today at the age of 66.

After a protracted illness he died last night at his home in Penryn, surrounded by members of his family. He leaves his widow, the former Helen Redington Carter, and three children, Mrs. J. Hamilton Cheston, Philip Ludwell Leidy and Carter Randolph Leidy.

Dr. Leidy was born in Philadelphia the son of a distinguished father, Dr. Philip Leidy and Penelope Fontaine Faury Leidy. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Medical school in 1887 and in 1900 was awarded insignia by the French government for his services in representing the United States on the international jury of hygiene at the Paris exposition.

Dr. Leidy was the author of a number of medical books and served as medical director with the thirtieth division of the World War. He was a past commander of the Pennsylvania commandery, military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States and a member of the Huguonot Society, the university and league clubs.

KENNETH GRAHAME. LONDON, July 7.—(AP)—Kenneth Grahame, noted British author, died suddenly today at Pangbourne, on the Thames, aged 72.

He was born in Edinburgh in 1859. He was the author of "The Golden Age," "The Wind in the Willows," "Pagan Papers" and "Dream Days."

ADOLPH WALTER. SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—(AP)—Adolph Walter, 78, who earned a congressional medal by saving 15 persons from drowning during the excursion steamer Slocum disaster in Long Island Sound, New York, 25 years ago, died here today.

WILLIAM G. COTTE. SCRANTON, Pa., July 7.—(AP)—William G. Cotte, secretary of the International Correspondence schools, whose father, the late David Cotte, was one of the institution's founders, died at his home last night after a lengthy illness. He was 46 years old and a native of Wilkes-Barre.

JOHN F. ROHR. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., July 7.—(AP)—John Frederick Rohr, 67, retired railroad conductor, who served the New York Central line 44 years, died suddenly at his home here today. He came here from Cleveland, Ohio, in 1931.

BERLIN, July 7.—(AP)—Communist riots at various places in Germany resulted in a number of casualties today.

A policeman was killed at Schwerin and at Bitterfeld a man was fatally shot in a demonstration against reduction of the dole.

ROMANY PRINCESS WEEPS FOR LOVER, MARRIES ANOTHER

ASHLAND, Ohio, July 7.—(AP)—By the light of flickering camp fires, a sappy princess with tearful eyes became the bride of a Romany king's son, near here last night, while several hundred tribal friends danced, feasted and made merry.

As a flower-trimmed wreath of ribbon streamers and a scarlet veil were pressed upon her head to symbolize the union, the 19-year-old bride, Rosa Miller, of Chicago, broke into sobs from an unexplained sorrow. Some said perhaps she loved another.

The bridegroom, George Ephrim, 30, was distinguished only by a large red rose pinned to his white sweater. Steve Ephrim, the Romany chieftain and father of George, purchased the bride for his son, for $2,000, the gypsies said.

CONVICTS CHARGE PRISON TORTURES

Prisoners Say Mates Beaten, Cruelly Treated in Florida Prison Camps

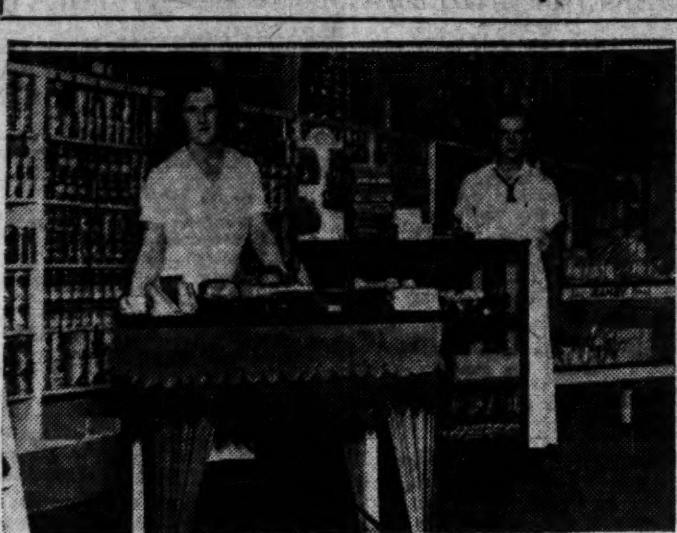

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 7.—(AP)—State convicts in a steady parade passed before Judge George Couper Gibbs here today to tell of state prison camp conditions and the events leading up to the death of Arthur Mailefert, 19-year-old New Jersey convict, for whose death two camp officers face first-degree murder charges here.

The sun-tanned convicts, wearing their wide-striped trousers, detailed cases of floggings, beatings and the sweat box where Mailefert was found dead, hanging by a chain about his neck and his feet encased in wooden stocks, which they said Captain George Courson and Guard Solomon Higginbotham ordered placed there. Judge Gibbs today personally inspected the sweat box.

Couson and Higginbotham, indicted by a grand jury, are seeking release on bond, through habeas corpus proceedings, pending their trial.

Some of the stories told by the prisoners conflicted considerably. The "gunmen," those who serve under

CURTIS IS CERTAIN OF CLEARING NAME

Truth in Lindbergh Case Will Yet Be Told, Boat Builder Declares.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—John Hughes Curtis, of Norfolk, Va., convicted of obstructing justice in the Lindbergh case, was quoted in an interview in the World-Telegram today as insisting he will "clear his name" and "solve the kidnapping mystery, if possible."

"I have been vindicated by the very trial that convicted me as a hoaxer," he was quoted. "Not long ago I was called 'the great hoaxer'... yet I was indicted for having had actual contact with the kidnappers or their representatives."

The newspaper says it is known "on positive authority" that F. W. Wilson, federal agent assigned by the government to investigate the kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., visited Curtis in his cell in the Flemington, N. J. jail yesterday.

The boat builder would not comment on this, nor would his lawyer, Lloyd Fisher.

Curtis was quoted in the article as saying he was "the victim of prejudice," and that "he felt the waves of mob anger against him as strong as the waves of an ocean beating against the shore."

The people "back home" in Virginia were divided in their opinions about him, Curtis said, "when this thing occurred," but now they are "lining up with" him, he added.

Curtis did testify at his trial, although he had been expected to go on the stand to substantiate charges of his lawyers that his typed confession of perpetrating a hoax was the work of the police.

"There is one story that never may be known," he said, "the account of what happened to me during those five days the police kept me in the Lindbergh home. No good can come of it."

GUNS ON BEER FRONT BOOM AGAIN, KILLING 2

CHICAGO, July 7.—(AP)—The beer war apparently is raging again along Chicago's South Side gangland front. The process of eliminating one another from the city's crime picture was resumed last night, after a short intermission.

James "Red" McGee, a former police man and Vernie Larkin, reputed henchman of Edward "Spike" O'Donnell, were the victims.

Two gunmen invaded the Del Rio roadhouse, operated by McGee, and killed McGee and Larkin, known as "The Goat," with shotguns. A third man, George Vandevelde, a well-known racketeer, was seriously wounded in trying to get out of the line of fire.

Further bloodshed, with no apparent connection with the earlier outbreak, came early today when Arthur Gould, publisher of a small race selection sheet, was shot and seriously wounded. He drove his automobile along fashionable Lake Shore drive near Surf street.

At the hospital, where he was taken for an emergency operation in an attempt to save his life, Gould told the police that two men drove alongside him and opened fire without warning.

Trouble on the South Side, after a period of quiet, opened up again a few weeks ago when Charles O'Donnell, a brother of "Spike," was machine-gunned to death.

It was predicted then that this was only the beginning of further bloodshed, and the prediction apparently came true for it was only a few days later that Gus Pacelli was killed in a resort operated by opponents of the O'Donnell crowd.

SECRET SPECULATION IS LAID TO KREUGER

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Evidence indicating that Ivar Kreuger, speculating in Krueger & Toll American certificates, lost nearly $800,000 in the eight months preceding his suicide in Paris last March was brought out at a hearing yesterday before Henry K. Davis, special master.

It also was indicated that some of his speculating was done through a secret account, of which even his brokers were unaware.

The evidence was produced by Jacob J. Javits, counsel for the petitioners for an American receivership for the Kreuger & Toll Company.

The witnesses were Nicholas Murphy, an assistant cashier of the Chase National bank, and Jerome Lewine and Sherman M. Bijur, with whose brokerage firm, the records showed, Kreuger opened an account under his personal guarantee in August, 1931.

The account, Lewine and Bijur testified, confined its operations to Kreuger & Toll American certificates, which were bought on a falling market. It was opened under the name of a Merceptor, a European subsidiary of the Kreuger interests.

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES by Sally Saver

CHERRIES ARE RIPE. The cherry crop this year is a bumper one, and the trees are filled with overhanging with luscious fruit, red, white and black as you like it. The cherry pickers are having an easier time than usual, because the fruit is hanging thick and plentiful, easy to pick and pack.

What interests the housewife most, though, is the inexpensiveness of the fruit. Cherry pies may be made of thin and thick, at much less cost than usual. Jars for canning are beginning to disappear from the stores, and the cherry pies are so easy to can, due to their acidity.

The white cherries make the choicest canned fruit, and should be packed in a heavy syrup, rich syrup. When the jars are opened, the fruit should be properly chilled before serving it. The white cherries add much to the flavor of it is fruit salads and fruit desserts, but they do not have enough of a decided flavor to combine with batters or doughs for puddings and similar desserts.

It takes the red, or so-called sour cherries, for pies, cobbblers, cottage puddings and other desserts.

The most important thing about cherry desserts is to remove every single drop of juice and syrup. There are small cherries on the market, that cost little and do much work along these lines. Better in fact, of them, and they are the family's nerves. It is a tedious job, pitting cherries by old-fashioned methods, but the job must be done right. There is absolutely nothing quite so disappointing in the food realm as to take a big anticipatory bite of cherry pie, and then bite down right in the middle of it. It is a matter how good the pie is, this one thing spoils the whole meal. Be sure every single pit is removed from the cherries, and the cherries are prepared.

The fruit should be washed before stemming and removing pits. Wash carefully in cold water, putting the cherries in a colander, and cover it. This allows for any stray bugs to rise to top of the water and be poured off.

When it is washed, remove the stems, then the pits. After that, the fruit is ready for use in whatever way you may desire.

The favorite dessert during the cherry season is, of course, homemade cherry pie. To make it is an art. But it is not out of the reach of the youngest bride may be successful at it, provided she follows directions exactly.

First, the crust. The rule is to use one-third as much shortening as flour. For a two-crust pie, a generous sized pie, use 2 cups of flour, sifted before measuring. Put the flour in a bowl, add 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, mix, then add 2-3 cups of shortening. The ingredient will be hard, or vegetable shortening, or combinations of butter with other shortenings, depending on whether you wish to make a flaky or a rich and crumbly crust.

With clean finger-tips, or with a fork, work the flour and shortening together until the mixture is of a mealy consistency, somewhat like cornmeal.

When ready, add cold water enough to make a stiff dough. This may be five tablespoons will be enough, but it may take a little more. Use ice water if possible, and mix quickly and to the point. It is at this place

Crisp Cereals Help "Wake Up" Summer's Jaded Appetites

Do you have a little jaded appetite in your home these mornings—maybe several of them? Or perhaps a suddenly disinterested adult point of view on food as well?

If you have just blame it on the weather. For all of us—from little Johnny around to daddy at the head of the table—demand a change of diet with the change of the seasons.

This is particularly noticeable at the breakfast table these hot summer days. And generally the trouble lies with the cereal being served. Those steaming hot cereals that have been popular through the cold months suddenly lose their appeal. The children and their elders are ready to switch their allegiance from the cooked breakfast to one of the many delicious and nourishing cold cereals that all grocers sell.

There is a vast array of these prepared from which to choose. Similarly, there is great variety to be had in the flavor, form and substance they offer. Some are made from wheat. Others from corn. A number even combine these wholesome grains. Many of the cereals are made of the whole grain or of the prepared grain, and can literally "write your own ticket."

Children, besides relishing these foods, also find them an interesting dish. They like to hear the crisp crackling sound they make in the bowl as the milk or cream is poured over them. They enjoy their "crunchiness" and the extra chewing that some cold cereals require. That, mothers, is beneficial as well. It gives the little teeth the needed exercise that dentists so strongly urge.

Some cereals provide the addition of the right bulk food to one's daily diet. The most effective of these are made from bran. Eaten regularly they help to prevent or to correct constipation.

Bran stimulates the intestines to witness in slaying Is Victim of Poison

Mrs. Madge Bullard, 32, an unemployed waitress, was taken to a Grady hospital late Thursday afternoon suffering from the effects of a poison or an overdose of a sedative, according to attaches. Her condition was not determined, as she was admitted for observation.

Mrs. Bullard recently figured in the fatal shooting of Jimmy Ragdale, assistant engineer of the Atlanta Athletic Club, and was one of several persons held as material witnesses. Ragdale was shot and killed during a dispute over a woman, a late known as Lee's Mill lake, near Fairburn. William Barkdale was charged with murder in connection with the shooting.

Mutual love of music, said the story, brought daughter, father, his first wife and his present wife together in perfect amity under the same roof.

"After all, we are living in a civilized age," Miss Adams commented, and her mother, Lillian Kennedy Adams, whom Adams was divorced nearly 20 years ago, described the establishment as "the fourth dimension of matrimony."

Adams' present wife was Aimee Rosella, of Los Angeles. They were married two years ago. She is about the same age as the daughter.

REDUCTION IN TAXES URGED BY ROOSEVELT

New York Executive Makes First Address Since Speaking in Chicago.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—(UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight made his first public address since he spoke before the democratic national committee in Chicago, but he was speaking as governor of the state of New York and not as the democratic presidential nominee.

His talk was an analysis of New York state government and was one of a series by which he hopes to concentrate public demands for a tax reduction on specific economies in various governmental departments.

Citing the department of taxation and finance, Roosevelt showed that its code in collecting various taxes had had a marked decrease since 1922, although the amount collected had increased.

"It would be interesting to compare that showing with the reasonably comparable collection costs of large scale mercantile, manufacturing, railroad and utility businesses," he said.

He cited the transfer tax bureau as an example of a department being blocked in its desire to lower costs by legislative inaction. Ten years ago the bureau's expenses were $610,000 and today they are $578,000, although its collections have increased from $15,000,000 to $32,000,000.

Gangsters Acquitted Of Kidnaping Charge

CHICAGO, July 7.—(AP)—Louis "Two-Gun Louie" Alterie, former gangster, and Charles "Buster" Brown, St. Louis and Kansas City gangster, were acquitted tonight of the kidnaping of Edward Doherty by a jury which had deliberated three hours.

The men were the last of a gang of 13 rounded up by Tat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, to be tried.

Neil Montague, one of the leaders, escaped jail while awaiting trial. John Fingers and William Thomas pleaded guilty to one of the dozens of abductions attributed to the gang and were given long sentences.

Several others, including Ward Kswaiwell, former assistant state's attorney of Cook county, were acquitted.

Doherty, a local gambler, like many other victims of extortion gangs operating in the Chicago area, professed inability to identify the defendants, and the state's case was based largely on the testimony of Gus Sanger, a member of the gang, who said he participated in the kidnaping with Alterie and Brown. The defendants furnished alibis.

Decline of $63,000,000,000 Is Revealed in Reparations

Capitalized at $64,000,000,000, 12 Years Ago, All War Debts Valued at About $1,000,000,000 Today.

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Reparations, that child of the World War which started out as a colossal of finance, has declined in the short span of 12 years to a comparative pygmy.

First capitalized at $64,000,000,000, reparations today are admittedly worth not more than another $1,000,000,000 to the former allies, and Germany insists they are not worth half that.

Although mentioned in the Versailles treaty, it was left to a Bolognese conference of the allied powers in June, 1920, to name tentatively the complete reparations that Germany must pay.

But the previously appointed reparations committee vetoed the suggested sum of $64,000,000,000 and pared it down to $131,500,000,000 to be paid in cash, bonds and exports. This total was agreed upon and the Allies issued an ultimatum making it effective.

Neutral financiers predicted a default within a year and, true to forecast, Germany asked for a moratorium in August, 1922. The Allies disagreed on what should be done about it, and out of the ensuing deadlock came the Dawes committee.

After long consideration this committee decided in 1924 not to name a final aggregate payment, nor to say how long Germany must pay. As accepted its plan eased off reparations, and scaled them up to a standard annual payment of $505,000,000 within five years.

But the question of final payment could not be long suppressed, so the Young commission was appointed in Geneva in 1928 to say how much and how long Germany should pay.

Termed a "final settlement," the Young plan peeled another $6,000,000,000 off the total World War reparations, naming $26,500,000,000 spread over 60 years, and settling all accounts by 1988.

The world economic crisis brought the next major step in the form of the Hoover moratorium postponing all intergovernmental debt payments for one year ending June 30 of this year.

Then came Lausanne, where the Allies are trying to figure out an answer to the Hoover moratorium. France and Great Britain advanced a proposal to bond reparations at $1,000,000,000. First Germany objected, and now Italy insists on cancellation.

Complicating all this is the dispute over how much Germany has already paid. Because of various percentages and payments in commodities, the figures are in dispute. France asserting that the Allies have received only $5,000,000,000. Germany says she has handed over more than $16,000,000,000.

Add to this the claim of the United States last year that only $1,600,000,000 had been paid on total allied war debts of more than $11,000,000,000, and you have the factors for the greatest financial problem of its kind in history.

aid, of Britain, and Chancellor Franz von Papen, of Germany.

Under this pact, the governments of Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain and Japan would have been bound to raise political questions without first conducting "friendly consultation with a view to agreeing on the manner in which such questions should be treated."

BRITISH DRAWS LINE

AT NAVAL PROVISIONS

LONDON, July 7.—(AP)—Great Britain officially defined her attitude today toward President Hoover's proposals to cut arms one-third by declaring herself in general accord but by drawing the line at her naval program.

In a paper read before the house of commons by Stanley Baldwin, acting prime minister, the government asserted Britain's far-flung interests made it impracticable for her to reduce the number of her naval units beyond a certain point.

But if there is a limit to numerical reduction, it is still possible, and highly desirable, to secure by other means a large diminution in naval armaments," Mr. Baldwin said.

The government lined up with Mr. Hoover by opposing air bombing, war reservations, and by pointing out that the British standards of land disarmament already more than cover the American aims.

The army has been cut from 250,000 in 1913 to 207,000 at present, Mr. Baldwin told the house. He emphasized that the proposals he was making were not to be regarded as a declaration of isolated action but as a contribution to world disarmament.

In general, the paper was an adaptation of the Hoover program to Britain's established fundamental policy of defense.

Naval Program.

The paper set forth the following naval program:

- "1.—Reduce the maximum size of any future capital ship to 22,000 tons, and the maximum caliber of the guns carried to 11 inches (from 35,000 tons and 16-inch guns).
- "2.—Reduce the maximum size of cruisers hereafter constructed to 7,000 tons and the maximum caliber of guns to 6.1 inches (from 10,000 tons and 8-inch guns).
- "3.—If international agreement on point 2 cannot be obtained, the government of the United Kingdom will still urge that the maximum size of capital ships should be reduced to 25,000 tons and their guns to 12 inches as a maximum.
- "4.—Reduce maxima for aircraft carriers to 22,000 tons with 1.5-inch guns (these carriers have been in the capital ship class).
- "5.—Abolish submarines.
- "6.—Reduce destroyer tonnage by approximately one-third, this depending on abolition of submarines.
- "7.—If submarines cannot be abolished, fix their maximum surface displacement at 250 tons, with strict limitation of both total tonnage and number of units."

Air Proposals.

- "1. Abolition of all aerial bombing, within limits to be laid down by an international convention, which might allow bombing of military points.
  - "2. Prohibition of attacks on civilians by land, sea or air.
  - "3. Strict limitation of the unladen weight of all military and naval aircraft, with the exception of troop carriers and flying boats.
  - "4. Numerical restrictions on all military aircraft.
- The general sense of the paper was that the government welcomed the Hoover proposals but preferred naval arm reductions to be achieved by cutting tonnage and gun caliber rather than by numerically limiting naval units.

SHIPSTEAD PROPOSES

DISARMAMENT PLAN

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—A resolution proposing cancellation of the war debts if nations of the world agree to a progressive disarmament of 5 per cent each year for ten years was offered in the senate today by Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minneapolis.

The resolution also conditioned debt cancellation upon agreement of foreign nations to abolish conscription for military purposes for 30 years and cancellation of reparations.

promptly asked when and how his party proposes to carry out its platform pledge regarding prohibition.

Before the discussion ended, Senator Tydings, of Maryland, a leading democratic anti-prohibitionist, charged a desire on the part of the republicans to "embarrass the democratic party."

He contended the responsibility for carrying out prohibition pledges rested with the republican party; as it controlled the executive branch and the senate.

Glenn said in reply that the democratic candidate, Governor Roosevelt, would take steps to see that their party's plank is enacted into law.

This Tydings responded that Glenn, a member of the party "in control of the government, calls upon a man who hasn't been elected yet to 'save the nation'."

The senate floor was only one of the day's prohibition developments.

In the house a petition to Speaker Garner for immediate action on beer-for-revenue legislation was circulated among republican anti-prohibitionists. Representative La Follette, republican, New York, predicted 60 republican signatures would be obtained.

Now he is dead in Winston-Salem, N. C., a bullet through his head, and police at a loss to ascribe a motive for suicide.

Though it was disclosed today he suffered a disappointment three weeks ago when he was refused a place on the proposed round-the-world expedition, police thought it hardly likely he killed himself over it.

The fortune, lawyers say, may not go to the "blue" singer. Provision for his children was made in the will, by which he would have inherited his share of the huge estate when he was 28, but not for his wife.

But whatever comes next for Libby Holman, her friends insist she will greet it with the same curiosity, and in the same vivacity they have known before.

charge. Childress extinguished the lights on his car and sped away.

In surrendering to city police Thursday the young man vigorously denied he had darkened the lights on his car after the accident. He claimed that the young people were wheeling one another in wheelbarrows and that one containing Miss Davis, which was being ridden by O'Kelley, had swerved into his path. Following the accident witnesses told police that the driver of the car had deliberately swerved into the members of the Davis party.

A search for young Childress, which extended as far as Chicago, resulted following the discovery that after the accident of a battered and blood-stained blue roadster, identified as the property of the young man. A young woman who admitted having kept an appointment with Childress on the night of the accident, was detained for questioning for more than 24 hours, but she insisted she had not been a companion of Childress at the time the accident occurred.

William Schley Howard, who was obtained a warrant for Childress, who was present when the formal surrender was made Thursday, insisted that the death of young O'Kelley and the injury to his companion were the result of an accident, of which his client was blameless. C. B. Childress Sr., father of the youth, told police that his son "has been there more than 100 yards from home" during all the time the search for him was in progress, but he refused to amplify his answer.

The death of the Tech High student marked the tragic end of a "hobo" party being given at the home of the Davis girl, at which boys trundled their girl companions about in wheelbarrows as part of the "fun." It was during a wheelbarrow "stunt" that the Childress car struck young O'Kelley and Miss Davis.

The action by the DeKalb county authorities followed quickly upon the surrender of Childress for Childress, plained by Chief of Police A. W. Lilly, of the DeKalb police, that Childress had been arrested last year and had been fined $50, and given a three-month suspended sentence by Judge Frank Guess, of Decatur city court. Chief Lilly said that Childress was being released on his own recognizance, but that arresting officers had not found him at the wheel.

Preliminary trial of Childress on the reckless driving charge was put on the police court calendar for 8:30 a. m., September 27.

promptly asked when and how his party proposes to carry out its platform pledge regarding prohibition.

Before the discussion ended, Senator Tydings, of Maryland, a leading democratic anti-prohibitionist, charged a desire on the part of the republicans to "embarrass the democratic party."

He contended the responsibility for carrying out prohibition pledges rested with the republican party; as it controlled the executive branch and the senate.

Glenn said in reply that the democratic candidate, Governor Roosevelt, would take steps to see that their party's plank is enacted into law.

This Tydings responded that Glenn, a member of the party "in control of the government, calls upon a man who hasn't been elected yet to 'save the nation'."

The senate floor was only one of the day's prohibition developments.

In the house a petition to Speaker Garner for immediate action on beer-for-revenue legislation was circulated among republican anti-prohibitionists. Representative La Follette, republican, New York, predicted 60 republican signatures would be obtained.

33 FAMILIES EVICTED

IN CAROLINA STRIKE

SPARTANBURG, S. C., July 7.—(AP)—Eviction of the families of 10 strikers went forward without disturbance today in the Arcadia mill village bringing the total number of evictions to 33 families.

The evictions, issued by Magistrate John Lancaster, were served by constables yesterday upon 12 families. Two other families moved voluntarily.

Eviction proceedings tonight had to take the resolution from the table, where it was sent several weeks ago.

By a vote of 17 for taking it from the table to 12 against, the council placed it again on the calendar. Councilman Ellis E. Barrett, of the thirteenth ward, led the fight against adoption, claiming that the "idea is to get somebody's job."

Morris' friends rallied in an effort to prevent passage, but were unsuccessful. Alderman Ben T. Huiet, of the third ward, charged that the stand Morris took in the recall is being held against him and warned council "not to kid yourselves about this; Morris will go if this paper is approved."

Among the other outstanding matters considered at the council session were approval of a plan to allow a fee of $1 for collection of tax, fee, and 75 cents for business license fee. Council several weeks ago decided that all collectors would be placed on a commission basis.

The council refused to approve payment of 12 months' salary to the mother of Hill Higgins despite a determined fight by Barrett, who stressed the point that Mrs. Higgins was a widow and that her husband had been killed in the war.

Barrett also insisted that there is an invalid brother to be cared for. It sent to the traffic committee a petition from about 30 residents of the city to have the street between the city hall and the city hall to be kept clear of trucks along those thoroughfares, and voted to keep the salary for William H. Huiet, first assistant chief of construction, in the June finance sheet.

Relief Body Reports.

Alderman Alvin L. Richards, won a fight to prevent Chief of Police E. O. Sturdivant from having a French telephone installed in his office. The alderman attacked the proposal of the chief of police to have a French telephone installed in his office. He attempted to pattern after movie stars while the city is suffering from extreme financial embarrassment.

A report of the activities of the American Rescue Workers for the first six months of the year showed that $2,074.75 was expended, and that lodging was given to 8,955 persons, free garments to 2,143 and that 26,704 free meals were served.

Council approved award of the contract for legal advertising to The Constitution for the month of August, and sent it to the aldermanic board for sanction. The aldermanic board approved the July and August contracts for The Constitution, but the latter one was held up on motion to reconsider.

Pay Plan Ruled Out.

An effort to establish a wage scale for city work was ruled out of order by the aldermanic board. The measure was designed to set up a scale of wages in line with federal scales paid in this territory. Councilman Joseph E. Berman was author.

Callaway will have full authority to select a temporary or permanent successor to Chambers under the ordinance passed last month by the aldermanic board.

Councilman Ed. Almond, chairman of the benevolence and pensions committee of council, is author of the proposal to coordinate all relief and charitable activities of the county and city. The plan is to make the chairman of the committee which Almond chaired after the accident, the chairman of the alms committee of the Fulton county commission and the president of the community chest, members and give them authority to select four or five residents of the city or county to assist in setting up a central office for distribution of relief funds.

Councilman Homer Foster, of the ninth ward, offered the resolution to audit the marshal's office. He recited that a shortage already has been charged to the marshal's office of the office and that the probe should be made to ascertain whether there are any others. Fulton county grand jury indicted the marshal, but a friend of the family, it was indicated, Foster Thursday visited Solicitor General John A. Boykin's office. It was brought out that the inquiry in that way is directed at Daniel personally.

SHERIFF TO PROBE REYNOLDS' DEATH

the care of a physician, who denied all persons access to her room.

She was reported improving tonight. Her physician said she would be able to attend the funeral of her husband tomorrow morning, but he refused to say whether reporters or others would be permitted to see her.

There was no indication from Sheriff Scott that he had abandoned his plan to hear from the young widow, who was a bride of only a few months, her version of the tragedy.

Lasater was asked about a report that Reynolds had planned to leave the house with Ab Walker, an intimate friend, who was a guest for the night, to keep engagement.

He replied he had no knowledge of any plans by Walker and Reynolds to go out of the house.

"I have talked to Ab," he said, "and he didn't understand it that way."

Lasater said Mrs. Reynolds had been attended much of the time since her collapse by Blanche Yeager, an actress-friend from New York, who also was a guest in Reynolds when his young master's life was ended.

Mrs. Reynolds said, Lasater had been coaching the former musical comedy star and blues singer in histrionics for some time.

Mrs. Reynolds was said by Lasater to have remained in seclusion since her return to the Reynolds estate from the hospital where her husband died about four hours after he was found lying on his sleeping porch with a bullet wound completely through the head. A 32-caliber revolver was found nearby.

The tragedy came shortly after the breaking up of an informal party attended by a dozen guests. Only Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Walker and Yeager were in the house, except for servants.

First reports, attributed to guests in the home, were that Reynolds stepped out on the sleeping porch, leaving his wife in her bedroom adjoining the porch, and that a muffled shot was heard while she was still in the room.

Access to Mrs. Reynolds was denied to all persons by order of her physician, who described her as being in a "highly nervous" state. Sheriff Scott, however, said he expected to question her at the first opportunity.

Speculation as to the probable disposition of young Reynolds' share in the vast estate of his father, the late R. J. Reynolds, failed to develop any definite information.

The elder Reynolds, who died in 1918, provided in his will that his four children, of whom Smith was the first, should receive stipulated annual incomes between the ages of 21 and 28, becoming eligible for shares in the principal of the estate upon attaining the latter age. It provided for their children but, a friend of the family explained, it made no provision for the wives and husbands of his two sons and two daughters.

Smith was just 20 years old when his career was ended by a bullet, after embracing in the last three years two marriages, a divorce and a world-girdling tour by airplane and boat. His share of the estate was estimated at $25,000,000.

The first Mrs. Reynolds, who ob-ained a Reno divorce a few months ago, was awarded a settlement of $500,000 for herself and $500,000 for their baby daughter by a pre-divorce agreement, approved and filed in superior court here.

One of the Reynolds' attorneys today said he believed this agreement would preclude any claim on the estate either by the dispossessed wife or the child. He added, however, that he was speaking in an unofficial capacity, since he had no connection with the divorce proceedings.

Under North Carolina law, another attorney pointed out, the former Miss Holman will be entitled to dower rights in young Reynolds' personal possessions, but whether or not she would have any title to the Reynolds estate remained a question upon which no one presumed to speak with authority.

Funeral services for the dead youth will be held tomorrow and he will be buried in Old Salem, now a part of this city.

REYNOLDS REFUSED TRIP

ON INDIES EXPEDITION

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—For more than a year young Smith Reynolds, who committed suicide yesterday, was negotiating for a chance to accompany the expedition around the world journey of the American-East Indies expedition.

Three weeks ago he was informed that there would be no place for him in the expedition personnel.

Captain Harry Carpen, head of the expedition, made it known through his secretary at the expedition's headquarters here today that he had been in touch with Reynolds within the past week but could not recall just what it was.

Carpen said he had known Reynolds very well for several years. Reynolds first applied for appointment to the expedition staff in March, 1931, in a letter.

It was said at the headquarters of the application long consideration. He finally decided that because of the limited berthing facilities on the ship he is planning to use there was no justification for taking along anyone who was not of definite value either as a scientist or an expert.

He declined to discuss the suicide today and would not disclose the nature of the telephone conversation he had with Reynolds within the past week.

"It is too sad an affair," he said.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bores up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

If taken thus good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remotest a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

MEETING CALLED ON SEWAGE PLAN

Health Officials Will Discuss Move for Creation of Sanitary District.

Legislation providing for establishment of a sanitary district in and around Atlanta with a view of correcting stream pollution and ending a menace to health will be discussed at a meeting of state, county and city health officers at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, July 20, at the state capital, it was announced Thursday. Representatives of Fulton and DeKalb counties, Atlanta, Decatur, East Point, College Park, Hapeville and other municipalities, and of the state board of health are expected to attend the conference. Improvement of sanitary conditions in the greater Atlanta district by installation of an adequate sewerage system will be the subject of talks. Atlanta is now in possession of a topographical map composed of a sewer survey two years ago. The map was prepared after many complaints were made because of contamination of streams, and it shows to engineers the best routes for sewers and the most advantageous sites for disposal plants. Legislation proposing a bonded sanitary district for Atlanta was defeated at the last session of the general assembly when that body adjourned with the bill still pending.

AKRON AUTHORITIES TO RELEASE MACONITE

AKRON, Ohio, July 7.—(P)—Mrs. Alana Hughes, 23, Macon, Ga., widow held here following her voluntary trip to police station and alleged admission that she was wanted in connection with theft of an automobile at Cincinnati, will be released Friday, Detective Chief Eddie McDonnell said Thursday. McDonnell received word from Cincinnati that no charges are pending against the woman there. Detective Chief E. D. Kirkan, of Cincinnati, said the car in question was owned by a friend of Mrs. Hughes, who is serving a workhouse sentence on a liquor charge.

Merchants Warned On Tax Violations

Retail merchants Thursday were warned by the bureau of internal revenue that misrepresentation of the excise tax on merchandise lays the merchant liable of a fine of $1,000 or a sentence of one year. Copies of the new act on file at the office of J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, point out that this provision is designed, among other things, to prevent a vendor adding more than the amount of the tax to the price of an article and representing that the increase is due to the tax.

American Monsignor Received by Il Duce

ROME, July 7.—(P)—Monsignor Bernard J. Mahoney, of Sioux Falls, S. D., had a 20-minute audience with Premier Mussolini today, the first American bishop to be received by Il Duce. He wore the full regalia of his ecclesiastical office, and, speaking in Italian, told the premier he was eager to meet a man "whom the holy father calls a man of providence." The people of America, he said, admire Signor Mussolini "as a man who does his own thinking and makes his own decisions."

Flights over Atlanta and adjacent areas in de luxe multi-motored passenger planes will be offered again Sunday afternoon by Airport Manager Jack Gray at Candler field. The flights are for a fund with which to furnish the new airport administration building owned by the city of Atlanta and the unusually low fare of $1.50 a passenger has brought the fund almost to the goal fixed by the ## city council aviation committee to purchase the furniture. It is believed the program Sunday will complete the fund.

American Airways and Eastern Air Transport have donated the use of the planes and the services of their experienced pilots. Flights will begin at 2:30 p. m. and continue at intervals until dark. They afford excellent opportunity for "first-fighters" to go aloft, see Atlanta from the air and get the first thrills of becoming air-minded. ## STALE GAS IS FEEBLE...fresh GAS PACKS POWER

YOU KNOW that gasoline evaporates. But have you ever thought what that means? It means that, little by little, the "light ends"—the "easy starting" elements—drift off into thin air.

And as gas gets stale, a chemical change takes place—and hence the longer gas is stored, the weaker it gets. The less power it gives you. And it gets stickier, too. More apt to foul valves and carburetor. More apt to knock on the hills.

The whole petroleum industry has long known these facts. Gulf has long studied the problem—and now announces a system that assures the motorist of getting FRESH, FULL-POWERED gasoline!

First, by giving you the best gasoline that can be made—by so refining this gas that the elements that cause rapid deterioration are eliminated. Which means that Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

Second, by getting this NEW-MADE gas to you in a hurry.

From refinery to pump, the Gulf distribution system is geared up to high speed. Gulf has carefully placed its many huge refineries in many sections of the country—so that a stream of FRESH gas can easily be kept flowing to every one of the 45,000 Gulf stations.

A tremendous fleet of fast trucks rushes FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day in the year.

Only FRESH gasoline packs full power. Get all the power you pay for. Get gas that's FRESH-MADE—and that is delivered FRESH. Get Gulf—exclusively. You'll have a livelier motor. A quieter motor. A faster motor.

TRAIN FARE VOTED FOR BONUS VETS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—A $100,000 fund requested by President Hoover for use in transporting war veterans from Washington to their homes was speedily authorized today by the house and senate.

With little debate, both branches approved the request in quick succession and sent the legislation to the White House for the chief executive's signature.

A similar bill has passed the senate and final approval of the appropriation is considered certain. There is nothing in the legislation, however, to compel the veterans to leave the capital.

Action by the house followed several hours after intervention by police at the Anacostia encampment to prevent what appeared might be a serious outbreak.

Communists, who moved in for a speech-making feat, were for a time threatened by a menacing crowd of anti-communists.

Felham D. Glassford, police superintendent, personally intervened to prevent bodily harm to John Pace, leader of the community workers' service men's league.

Shouting and milling, the more conservative veterans advanced on Pace when he demanded the removal of Walter W. Waters, elected commander-in-chief of the former soldiers on a "dictatorship" platform.

The police closed in on the ragged mob and Glasford, shielding Pace, urged that they allow him to speak unmolested. He told those who disagreed with Pace's views to go "play baseball."

Before the meeting broke up several hours later, more than a dozen groups were prevented from fighting each other by police.

Unabashed by the cool reception at the camp, the communists tonight issued a call for a "rank and file" demonstration tomorrow at the capital.

Police gave them a permit to parade and assured them protection.

The veterans' headquarters offered to reinforce the police "to protect" the communists in their demonstration but this was declined.

Back Pictures in Songame Available for Newcomers

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

The Songame editor has been receiving more and more enthusiastic letters from readers of The Constitution who have become ardent players of the Songame. It is simple to play, is lots of fun, and calls for no outside work of any kind. There will be no subscriptions to obtain, no votes to solicit, nothing but a few hours spent in an enjoyable pastime; and The Constitution is offering $1,800 in cash prizes to the winners of this pleasant game, which is matching pictures with song titles.

The first prize will be $1,000; the second, $400; the third, $100; the fourth, $50, and the fifth $25. There are ten additional prizes of $10 each, and 25 prizes of $5 each.

If you have just become interested in the Songame, or in some way have missed any of the pictures, that will not handicap you in any way, for The Constitution has reprinted all of the pictures up-to-date, and they may be obtained by calling at The Constitution office, or by addressing a request to the Songame editor, and inclosing a two-cent stamp to cover mailing.

You will also receive on request a compilation of some several thousand song titles, alphabetically arranged, and classified as to subjects, which list will be a valuable aid in playing the Songame.

For the convenience of those who desire the back pictures or the song title list, the drug stores below named have them, and will be glad to supply them to you without obligation.

PLEA FOR RELIEF RENEWED BY CRISP

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Against immediate relief for the unemployed, Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, today appealed to the house to adopt the conference report on the democratic relief measure "even at the expense of having it vetoed by President Hoover."

Reinforcing the plea made by the Georgian, Majority Leader Rainey, also added his voice to those members who demanded some sort of speedy action for the masses who are out of work and helpless because of the lack of credit to carry on business.

Representative Rainey paid a glowing tribute to Judge Crisp's forthrightness and candor in dealing with both democrats and republicans in the matter of bringing about an agreement between the White House and congress.

"I want to agree with the statement made by my friend from Massachusetts (Mr. Bradley)," said the majority leader, "who has just taken his seat, when he referred to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Crisp) as being fair in debate. During the long service of Mr. Crisp in this house, fairness has characterized his actions in every one of the numerous debates in which he has engaged on this floor."

In referring to Judge Crisp's candidacy for a seat in the senate, Mr. Rainey said:

"This may be my friend's last appearance in the house of representatives as a leader and champion of major legislation. He is now a candidate for the United States senate in which he has engaged on this floor."

Loud applause and vigorous hand-clapping from both sides of the aisle greeted this tribute of the veteran leader from Illinois.

Continuing, the Illinoisian said:

"During the present session Representative Crisp has borne the heat and brunt of battle in this body. It has fallen to him to take the lead on account of the illness of the chairman of the ways and means committee (Mr. Culliver of Mississippi) in all these controversial matters and fairness and a high sense of duty have characterized his every utterance and his every action on this floor."

"As a parliamentarian I do not know of any on either side of the house during my long period of service here who has been his superior. He has been perfectly fearless in the discharge of all of his duties, and I express, I am sure, the hope of every member on the democratic side, that when we lose him in the lower branch of this congress it simply means that he is being promoted to the higher branch where he may continue his distinguished career of usefulness."

At this point Mr. Rainey was interrupted by Representative Trevelyan, also a member of the ways and means committee, who asked permission to revise the statement of the majority leader by including the republicans in the wish "that the gentleman is extending for the democratic side."

"I thank my friend," replied Rainey, "and I am pleased to yield to him for his addition to my commendatory remarks about the service of my personal friend, Mr. Crisp."

Final passage of the conference report by a vote of 202 to 156, testifies to the esteem in which the acting chairman of the committee is held by his colleagues.

During his remarks on the efforts put forth by the conference to reach a speedy agreement, Judge Crisp said there were many provisions in the bill, "which I do not personally like."

"But," he added, "the pathetic condition of our country is such that some kind of relief measure must be enacted immediately."

"Those who have money are hoarding it and the banks will extend no credit. There must be credit given to the needy no matter what their station in life, providing they put up adequate security. We brought the Reconstruction Finance Corporation into being for this express purpose and I for one, can see no reason why its benefits should be confined to classes rather than to the masses."

"The people of this country want work and relief and not political gestures. It is time to act. Let's do something now."

Judge in St. Pierre-Hutton Case Finds Threatening Note in Rooms

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(AP)—Superior Judge Lester W. Roth, hearing the $200,000 breach of promise action brought by Myrtle St. Pierre against David Hutton, late today found in his chambers a threatening note which caused him to order an extra guard about the courtroom.

Both Miss St. Pierre and Hutton, husband of Aimee Sempie McPherson Hutton, the evangelist, previously had reported receipt of threatening letters.

The note addressed to Judge Roth was printed crudely in pencil on a card. It read:

"Dear Judge: Please see the jury gets instructions for a Hutton verdict. If you don't through no fault of yours, that blackmailing scheme will get one of those. You save bloodshed if you follow instructions."

"One of these" referred to a .32 caliber cartridge, tied to a corner of the card by a string.

The note was signed: "One for Justice."

The judge turned the note over to officers for fingerprint tests.

Judge Roth served notice that the sensational case, in which Miss St. Pierre charged Hutton jilted her to marry the evangelist, must reach the courtroom stage tomorrow.

Miss St. Pierre, summoned to the witness stand today, created a sensation in demanding from Judge Roth the right to "defend my honor."

The Pasadena nurse, recalled in rebuttal of defense testimony about her past life and other alleged lovers, became so excited Judge Roth dismissed the jury while he reprimanded her.

Hutton, back from an overnight trip to Lake Arrowhead, where his wife and other alleged lovers, became so excited Judge Roth dismissed the jury while he reprimanded her.

At this remark, prompted by Mrs. St. Pierre's testimony that Miss St. Pierre had entered a hospital in 1926 for a delicate operation, Judge Roth halted the trial and excused the jurors.

"I am convinced, Miss St. Pierre, that you made that last answer deliberately in an attempt to prejudice the jury against Mrs. Hutton. I have warned you before that if there were any more unwarranted remarks from you, I would have to caution you before the jury. The next time I shall take the chance of a reversible error in equity you before the jury."

The young woman's face clouded and she broke into tears, turning to the judge she cried out:

"Your honor, my character has been ruined in this courtroom. I am the only one who can defend myself. Please give me the right to do so. These vicious people have lied about me so terribly and I can't explain or say anything."

"You have had all the opportunity the law allows you," the court responded.

The rotund Hutton found himself the center of attention as a woman approached during a recess and commanded:

"Let me see your hands."

The choir singer protested but finally gave way. Glancing at the plump palms, she told him:

"You are going to lose your present wife and marry again during this life. You are led by your heart rather than by your head."

Hutton laughed.

Kidnapers Release St. Paul Victim

ST. PAUL, July 7.—(AP)—Tied and unharmed, but otherwise unharmed, Haskell Bohn, St. Paul youth, was back home today, with a story of having been held captive by several men for nearly a week.

Whether any money had been paid for his release, as demanded in a note left at the home last Thursday when Bohn was seized by two men and thrown into an automobile, was not revealed. The writers had asked $35,000.

Three men who are alleged to have attempted to extort $10,000 from G. C. Bohn, young Bohn's father, were being held by police.

Bohn walked into a farm house at Medicine Lake, near Minneapolis, late last night, and said his captors had just freed him.

Questioned by police Bohn said he was at the family garage a week ago today when the men seized him at the point of guns.

"They took off my glasses and wound tape over my eyes," said the youth, whose "father is a manufacturer here. They drove to an hour and stopped at what apparently was a garage. After about three hours, one man walked me for about 200 feet. He took me into a house and down some steps, into a basement, I think."

Condition of Cermak Is Reported Critical

CHICAGO, July 7.—(AP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak was reported unofficially tonight to be in a serious condition at St. Anthony De Padua hospital, where he was taken yesterday.

Close friends of the mayor denied his condition was dangerous, but one of his secretaries was denied admittance to his room and two policemen guarded the door.

One report was that the mayor's condition was so critical democratic leaders were considering the advisability of electing a mayor pro tem. until he recovers.

"DAVISON-PAXON'S 1932 Cotton Dresses Are Fashionable, Attractive, Practical"

says Mrs. Dorothy Gilmore, of 562 Orme Street, of the staff in our Daytime Dress Department, who wrote the following winning essay in a contest conducted among our employees on "What I Know About the Quality and Desirability of the Merchandise in My Department." Her essay follows:

Attractive, because they are new in design, and as lovely in colorings as the finest silks.

Fashionable, because the new soft prints, the sports weaves and sheer fabrics are especially suited to the fitted and interesting fashions of this 1932 season.

Practical because of guaranteed fast colors. Newer processes in manufacturing these cotton materials, practically guaranteeing them against shrinkage, makes these dresses popular because of the economy in cleaning—just a laundering and the dress is fresh for another wearing.

Polo Game Scheduled For Next Sunday At Fort McPherson

FORT MCPHERSON, Ga., July 7. Assembling sport lovers from Atlanta and the garrison social contingents will be the polo game to be played Sunday afternoon between the Governor's Horse Guards and the Fort McPherson squad. The game, which was called off last Sunday on account of the wet weather, will be most interesting in view of the fact that the polo team has been recently accorded the championship of the fourth corps area regular army, while the guardsmen have the distinction of being victors of the national guard tournament.

The game will be the final one to be played in Atlanta until mid-August for the guardsmen are leaving for summer training at Fort Oglethorpe and are planning to ship their ponies at an early date to their summer training station. Upon their return the late summer tournament between the two local teams will be played on successive Sundays at the polo field. With the handsome silver trophy cup to be awarded the victors at the close of the tournament.

A swimming party and picnic will be given by the Fort McPherson Officers' Club Friday evening, with the entertainment committee for the month, Captain Frank Child and Mrs. Child, Lieutenant J. K. Baker and Mrs. Baker and Lieutenant W. Roger Woodward and Mrs. Woodward, as the official hosts. After a swim in the pool the picnic will be served in the grove at the lower end of the parade ground. Guests will include club members and additional guests.

Among interesting additions to the party will be the presence of Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien, who recently arrived from Fort Hayes, Ohio, for station. Colonel O'Brien relieved Colonel Clyde C. Abraham, who was on duty with the staff of the commanding general. Miss Keturah O'Brien accompanied her parents and will be numbered as one of the most attractive members of the high school set. At an early date Colonel O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien will entertain at a party for the possession of their quarters, No. 12-W.

Fennell-Johnson Wedding Rites Solemnized at Augusta Ceremony

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 7.—Focusing the attention of fashionable society throughout the state was the marriage of Miss Helen Hollis Fennell, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fennell, to Dr. McClaren Johnson, son of Dr. and Mrs. James Clarence Johnson, of Atlanta, which was beautifully solemnized at 5:30 o'clock this evening at the First Baptist church here. The Rev. Frederick E. Smith, pastor of the church, read the marriage service, which was witnessed by an assemblage of friends and relatives.

The interior of the handsome church was adorned with quantities of stately gladioli, displaying the range of pastel tints, massed against a background of palms and giant Woodwardia ferns. Tall cathedral candles gleamed among the foliage, which backed the choir loft and altar and against which stood in relief graceful white floor baskets filled with gladioli. Tall sheaves of gladioli marked the alternate pews down the length of the church aisle.

Robert J. Watson, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music, including "Out of the Dusk to You" during the ceremony.

Wedding Personnel.
The ushers included the cousins of the bride, Addison Weisiger Jr., of Augusta, and Stanley Walton, of Harlem, Ga. Acting as groomsmen were Willis Timmons, of Atlanta, and Dr. Sam Fennell, of Augusta, brother of the bride.

Miss Elizabeth Otis, of Augusta, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Poole, of Roanoke, Va., and Miss Margaret Currie, of Gainesville and Augusta. They wore gowns fashioned alike of sheer flat crepe, featuring quaint empire waists and long, full skirts with the side panels developed in circular flounces.

Their hats of French hair braid were wide-brimmed, and the crowns were finished with ribbons matching the shades of the gowns. The maid of honor, Miss Otis, was gowned in shell-pink and she carried an armful of blue asters and baby breath. Miss Poole appeared wearing mint-green and she appeared in her bouquet reflected the sunset tints. Miss Currie wore orchid, and she carried shell-pink asters.

The lovely young bride entered the church with her father, John F. Fennell, and they were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his brother, Dr. Trimbale Johnson, who acted as best man.

Beautiful Bride.
The patrician beauty of the bride was emphasized by her filmy chiffon gown of heaven-blue shade, the close-fitting bodice being finished with a deep bertha of real lace. The skirt, moulded to the hips, was formed of narrow, knife pleatings, falling full to the floor. A Victorian sash of satin ribbon was caught at the back with small shell-pink flowers, and the bride wore a picture hat of transparent French hair which matched her gown. Blue satin pumps and ivory-limbed kid gloves were interesting accessories of the bridal ensemble, which was completed by a graceful arm bouquet of pink radiancy roses showered with valley lilies.

Mrs. John F. Fennell, mother of the bride, was a becoming gown of lace and chiffon of an ivory tone, with a hat to match.

Miss Trimbale Johnson, of Atlanta, sister of the bridegroom, was handsomely gowned in blue crepe Eliza-beth, worn with a hat of brown straw and brown accessories.

Miss Laurion Johnson, of Atlanta, another sister of the bridegroom, was an attractive figure wearing a gown of lettuce-green chiffon combined with deep cream Alencon lace and worn with a hat to match.

Dr. Johnson and his bride left for a motor trip to Asheville and other mountain resorts in North Carolina. Mrs. Johnson chose for traveling a smart ensemble of navy-blue, triple sheet crepe, fashioned with a blouse of Alencon lace, and a short jacket finished in scallops. Blue slippers, a becoming blue hat of French felt, blue gloves and bag completed the costume.

Upon their return to Atlanta Dr. and Mrs. Johnson will take possession of their new home at 23 Collier road. Among the guests from a distance who attended the wedding were the bridegroom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Clarence Johnson, in North Carolina; Laurion Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Trimbale Johnson, and Willis Timmons, all of Atlanta; Miss Mary Poole, of Roanoke, Va.; Miss Margaret Currie, of Gainesville, and Stanley Walton, of Harlem, Ga.

Mrs. Davis Honors Wesleyan Group

Mrs. M. H. Davis will be hostess Saturday to Group No. 4 of the Atlanta Wesleyan Club, which includes members of the classes of 1920-1928 inclusive. The group will meet at 3 o'clock at Mrs. Davis' home, 548 Greenwood avenue, N. E.

Mrs. W. R. Bentley, chairman of the group, will preside at the business session. Plans will be made for another of the benefit bridge parties which are being held at the homes of members of the group.

This is the monthly meeting of the group which was postponed from last Saturday. Members are requested to be present, and any out-of-town members of the Wesleyan classes of 1920-1928 will be welcomed.

Civic Club Holds Bridge-Tea Today

Limited Expansion Process

Note from the illustrations the smaller air globules and proportionately less total air space in ice cream made by Limited Expansion Process, which leaves room for correspondingly more actual mix.

The smaller air globules in Dolly Madison ice cream insure finer texture, and the fuller flavor of the fine ingredients. The flavor cannot escape.

Larger air globules produce coarse "puffy" texture—much of the delicious flavor is lost under the old method.

SYNOPSIS.—Anita Brown, 18 years old, goes to family and friends, was left alone in the world when her father and mother were killed in an automobile accident in Cantonville, her home town. She has just graduated from high school and intended to go to art school, but she learned that for the last six months her father had fought off bankruptcy. As a child, Tony had taken painting lessons and at 16 she turned her love for line and color to dress designing. No more "studies" appeared on the walls of her home but, on all the Brooks tables were albums, all filled with the dress designs Tony or her audience would one day wear. When her father's estate was settled, Tony had slightly less than $200. Art school was out of the question just then; she must earn her living and try to save enough for evening classes. Tony's capital was down to $12 when she got a job as helper in Madame Simon's dress shop in New York.

A month later the saleswoman she assisted quit suddenly and Tony was promoted. She was so frank in advising women what they should not wear that she lost important sales and was dismissed. The same day Leslie (Lee) Moran, a model, also was discharged. She had drawn her salary in advance and at her landlord's demand her money in advance, she had no place to go. Tony shared her third floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with Lee, who became discouraged at her failure to get jobs and said she was going out to look for some fun. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VII.

"Pretty rough going in the city for a girl alone," His voice was husky when he was serious.

"I was prepared to find it rough," Tony admitted, "but not quite so . . . rocky as it is."

"It gets rougher as you go along, that is if you're a game traveler. His fingers pressed her arm encouragingly.

"I don't know how game I am," Tony laughed, "but I mean to travel."

They were in front of the chipped stone steps. So soon.

"Good night, Miss Brooks. Tell Lee I couldn't wait. I'll be back in two weeks."

It was Tony Brooks. Tom Stewart told her would be back in two weeks. Back to her. Not to Lee. Every nerve in Tony's body, every inch of her womanhood, every song in her heart, clamored that it was to her he was coming back. And she had not denied him the coming. How was she going to face Lee?

Tony awakened from a troubled sleep to a blaze of light in her eyes; a blinding voice was calling her name and admonishing her to "wake up and hear the birdies sing."

"It is time to turn out already!" Tony asked drowsily. It seemed she had no sooner succeeded in curling her racing mind into the sweet oblivion of sleep than it must begin to whirl again, torturing and accusing her. Her last conscious effort had been directed toward a vision of the vivid, breath-taking image of Tom Stewart from her thoughts. She had not succeeded. He had remained, was here now, his fingers at her elbow, his eyes capturing and holding her in a kind of exquisite thrall. Where had Lee been so early? Taking off her hat now, she spotted it at Tony with a cry of, "Burr! for our side!" Look darling, I've brought you a swell present. Sit up and take our-ahmet."

Lee drew a turkey leg, temptingly browned, from a paper bag and waved it at Tony.

"Where on earth—why it's only 2 o'clock!" Tony lifted the clock and bade her close her eyes and try to convince herself that it was ticking.

"Two A. X. and lookit, the harvest!" Lee waved a grandiloquent hand toward her bed. Bags and bundles were piled in its center. "Surround that drumstick, darling, and here's a two-story bread and butter sandwich gobbled with cranberry jelly to keep it company." Lee extracted an oiled paper package from one of the bags.

Tony took the turkey leg, sunk her teeth into its brown crispness. She was ravenous. She was so hungry she must restrain herself or she would be tearing at the meat. Turkey, and done to a turn.

"Yummy, what?" Lee nibbled scallops from a cookie another bag had divulged.

"Wait 'till you get the rest of it. Macaroons, glace, mustard pickles, figs in syrup, pate de foie-gras with truffles, caviar in these cute brown jacks." She was extracting articles from bags and depositing them on the bed as she named them. "And just to show you that little Lee keeps her head even when she's 'mooching' Santa Claus, here's butter and fresh eggs and boxes of sliced bacon, not to mention very exclusive tea, coffee, sugar, and triple sec cream. We eat, darling? We do not. We feast. Have a fruited cake with nut filling." She extended one of the bags to Tony.

"Lee, 'till you sit up in bed, her body suddenly tensed, her eyes searching the other's face. "Where did you get all this food? Caviar and things like that? You told me you were broke—that you'd spent all your money."

Lee laughed. The quality of the laugh, its lightness, the apparent mischievousness of its motivation, reassured Tony.

Lee said: "It was too easy, darling. After you left this morning, now it's yesterday, I decided to visit a few playgrounds around town and see what was being had in the line of fun. Nothing happened until about 10 o'clock last night, when I took up taxi-dancing in a big way."

"Taxi-dancing? You didn't!" A dance hall, you mean, where men pay you as much as a dance? Oh Lee, how awful!"

"Awful, my eye, unless you mean awful nice." Lee munched another cookie. "Honestly, Tony, it was a whirl. I was passing this dance place—it's really quite respectable and done in the grand manner—when I found my feet creating a rindoo, and, at the entrance, I'd been there before, with boys I knew, but never by my lonely. A man inside the door asked me if I wanted to see the manager. I didn't, up to then, but it was an idea."

"Lee, you didn't!"

"Hold it. I was shown into an office where a man with bushes over his eyes and a patrician nose asked me if I'd had any experience taxiing. I told him I'd had plenty. I didn't bother to explain it wasn't the kind of taxi experience he was looking for. He asked me for references and I handed him a few names that sounded good, but meant nothing. He said okeh and sent me to try out with one of the he-taxis. The floor was slick, the music divine, and little Lee knew his ankling—and little Lee got the job. Seems they were taking on a few extras at El Tango—that's the name of the place where your roommate is now employed. And fun? Say, darling, turn off that alarm. It's liable to explode and wake me up."

"You must have danced your feet off—to buy all this," Tony said, indicating the packages.

"My dear," Lee was laughing, making trips back and forth from bed to screen stowing the supplies on shelves and in the cupboard. "Don't be dull. It's not a big account and do his daily good 'ed" taught Lee.

Uncle was my first customer and I picked him out all by myself. I was sitting at a table in a hall, and he came in a roped space at one end of El Tango—we call it the bullpen—when I saw Uncle come in. He looked kind of sheepish, as if he didn't know whether he ought to be there or not, so I put on my come-hither smile and nodded to him. That buckled him up. He asked me if I'd mind taking a few turns with him; he hadn't danced for years, it was a shame to bother anyone; he'd probably step on my feet—and on I said I'd love helping him. He needed it, all right. And when I say help I mean help. We practiced until dinner time and he asked if he could come back for more punishment later. My feet were mangled but I held up. We put on the second show until 1 o'clock this morning and he said I was a real age ran trip the way Uncle does is nothing short of a miracle."

"But all the food, Lee, how did you come to get it?"

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Scoring the Ultimate

In playing Rubber Bridge, tricks made above the contract are more or less immaterial. They figure, of course, in the honor score, and may add a point or two to the total when the rubber is finally added up. In tournament play, however, and particularly in games scored under the Howell match point system of scoring, the extra trick available through a card play often spells the difference between a champion and just one of the "common herd."

An illustration of this occurred in the hand given below, which was played recently in an important eastern tournament. In its play, one South was able to secure a top score on the hand through an appreciation of all the elements which go into the correct play of the cards.

North—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

TODAY'S POINTER.

In playing bridge, an extra trick scored over the contract is ordinarily an immaterial thing. The success of the contract should never be risked in chasing a rainbow, but, with the contract assured, a good player will make every effort to score all tricks available.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow—
South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

THE BIDDING:

South	West	North	East
3NT	Pass	3♠	Pass
3NT	Pass	3♠	Pass

The bidding requires no particular comment, following closely conventional lines. North and South have plenty of strength to try for a game, and South's length in spades, even though holding a single stopper, indicates that notrump is probably the best final declaration.

Against the contract of three notrump, West opened the spade Queen, and continued with a spade. East winning. South won the third round of the suit.

West was in difficulty at this point. He did not know the distribution of

ANTLERS' BAND TO PLAY FOR VETS AT 48 SUNDAY

The Antlers' band of Atlanta lodge, No. 78, Elks, will entertain the patients at United States Base Hospital 48 at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a concert under direction of John A. Scharf, it was announced Thursday by J. Clayton Burke, secretary. The Antlers is the junior order of Elks, and the Atlanta lodge is the first to be officially installed in 1932.

Next Wednesday the Antlers band will go to Birmingham to represent the Atlanta lodge in the grand parade of the sixty-eighth national convention of the Elks, which will be held in that city. Ten members of the Atlanta Antlers' band will make the trip.

SALLY'S SALLIES

GRANT ENTERS FOOTBALLS BY BEATING GRANT

Frank Thomas, the Alabama football coach, is thinking of looking up the railroad rates to Los Angeles and the Olympic games.

This sudden thirst for California developed yesterday at Athens when Coaches Bill Alexander, of Georgia Tech, and Harry Mehre, of Georgia, engaged with Thomas in a golf match.

The huge Alabama squad is to do battle with the Georgia Tech outfit next fall in a resumption of the old Alabama-Tech series. This summer Coach "Ellick" is to be in Hollywood with a football picture in which John "Hurricane" Cain, Thomas' chief reliance in the backfield, is to be starred along with other football players of note.

"I think, Frank," said Coach Alexander, "that I will hire one of Hollywood's blonds to get after this boy, Cain and see if she can keep him on the coast. Without him we might have a chance next fall."

Whereupon Frank Thomas immediately decided to go to Hollywood and supervise his football star.

Summer finds the football coaches in a jovial mood. It is a comparative mood, being, however, more or less jovial. Those who have learned that a number of good freshmen are to enter the halls of learning are jovial. Those who look forward to a poor freshmen eleven are not so jovial.

Thomas is at last objecting a bit to being put in the favorite's seat at this time of the season. Mr. Thomas protests that his ends may not be so good and that he doesn't know what sort of team his will be. There is, however, a lack of heartiness in his protests. Mr. Thomas is protesting, it seems, merely to keep the boys in a good humor.

Mr. Al Smith, this column's operative in Athens, where the golf match was held, bent in an ear long enough to hear Mr. Thomas say that in his opinion Tulane, Vanderbilt and Tennessee were the teams to watch next fall.

Those teams are good, too. But Mr. Thomas' red-clad hordes from the Capstone look better.

"Why pick on me?" is Mr. Thomas' plaint. It does not ring so soundly because next fall the Alabama boys are going to do considerable picking on a lot of the boys on the southern pigskin circuit.

The summer books offer Alabama as the best bet straight across the gridiron.

ALAS, POOR MAX.

Anny Ondra, the Czech movie star, whom Max Schmeling is reported engaged to, is quoted as saying that Max must give up his "ungentlemanly" profession once they are married.

Ho, hum. One wonders when the movie profession ever had anything on the boxing dodge when it came to being gentlemanly?

It must be the Tunney influence again. Tunney said the boxing dodge was a pretty sordid sort of business and he was glad to get out of it. He set the boys to browsing around in books. It seems that Schmeling and Miss Ondra met at a library in Berlin. And that inoculated them with the Tunney virus.

One wonders what Joe Jacobs will think about it. Joe, the little fellow from the east side, who graduated from pants pressing to managing the world's champion heavyweight, will probably scream aloud in agony. He never cared much for too much of the gentlemanly stuff, preferring to go along as prize fighters and their managers are expected to go.

Schmeling knows his own mind. He has much about him that is reminiscent of Tunney. He never lets his manager do all the talking or acting. The Berlin youngster was the one who silenced Jacobs' lusty squawk after the decision on June 21 when Schmeling's title was won by Jack Sharkey.

It is likely that Miss Ondra is a bit too optimistic. The Maxie boy will hardly quit the ring. He has that five-year contract with Joe Jacobs, which guarantees him $100,000 per year. The first year is safe enough. There are four more to run.

It isn't such a bad profession—for the good ones—this heavyweight business. Only a few out of thousands ever get into the big money. But there is no other profession which pays dividends so quickly and so richly as the heavyweight boxing game. And it is not necessarily for the game to be associated with rackets and racketeers. They were the first to smarten up to its money-making qualities.

A LOT OF FIGHTING AHEAD.

This new romance is probably just a lot of work by press agents for the young lady. It can do her no harm to have her name tied in with that of the most popular heavyweight in the world.

There is quite a lot of fighting ahead for the German. He is sure to meet Johnny Risko in a Cleveland ring, the scene of the triumph over Strubling little more than a year ago. And he is almost as sure to meet Mickey Walker in Chicago's stadium.

He should be back in possession of the title by the time another year is gone. Unless, of course, he does quit the ring. Which isn't at all likely. A year's lay-off from the ring and actual competition won't help Jack Sharkey any. He was already beginning to show a bit of fat around the waist.

All of which causes one to wonder what's become of the Sharkey man. And to wonder again why he isn't popular. He's the only American heavyweight who never dodged an opponent or who never drew the color line to avoid a fight. He met them all. He worked his way up from a pick and shovel to where he is a substantial citizen, a decent and faithful husband a genial father for his kids. His home life is ideal and his public life has been as good. Yet the American public won't give him a cheer.

He has his title in the worst possible year to have it but the pickings won't be so bad. Starting with the $40,000, or rather with his share of the $40,000, obtained at New York, he should clean up well over $100,000 this year. And then will come the fight in defense of his title—and when it comes he will get the big end of the purse. Another $100,000.

TAGGING A FEW BASES.

A New York friend of Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, former Brooklyn manager and now stock farmer at Dover Hall in Georgia, wrote and asked, "After watching the Holsteins all day do you have any cold steins at night?"

Roy Largent, the White Sox scout who has one of the best records in the game, takes Mr. Largent with him on all his trips because she has a great pair of eyes for sizing up a young player's ability. Largent accepts her judgment as quickly as his own.

Joe Ray, one of the greatest millers the track ever knew, is a veteran marathon dancer now, scrambling for the "floor money" with the rest of them.

Earl Combs, of the Yankees; Sam Jones, of the White Sox, and Jim Mooney, of the Giants, are all school teachers in the off-season.

Sharkey and Schmeling "fought" for 15 rounds and there was a split lip for Schmeling and a black eye for Sharkey. Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher, let Carl Reynolds, Senator player, have one punch and broke his jaw.

CHICAGO SCOUT HERE FOR LOOK AT OUTFIELDER

Interested in Cummings. Says Atlanta Lost Star in Lou Garland.

By Jimmy Jones.

Roy Largent, the veteran Chicago White Sox scout, who looked at Lou Garland in two games here in 1932 and recommended his purchase at a tag of $20,000, plus another ball player, is in the city to get a peek at Atlanta's John Cummings, left fielder of the Crackers, with a view perhaps of making an offer for that young man's services.

Largent finds after a week of trailing the Crackers that there is less young talent on the club than he has ever seen. He attributes the team's present position in the Southern league largely to this fact.

The only two Crackers who could be termed prospects are Cummings and Lefty Carithers, the pitcher. Cummings is a heavy hitter, but the lad has a beautiful curve ball but needs to develop his fast ball before he will be ripe for a major league tryout. Carithers also should try and put on a little more weight, Largent thinks.

LIKES CUMMINGS.

As for Cummings, the White Sox scout admitted he liked his form and actions and believed he was a natural hitter. He has seen him only in the two games in the Southern league and is allowing for the fact that the youngster is in a slight slump at present after going to a swift clip all season.

Largent gave an excellent report on Paul Gregory, former Cracker pitcher, who has won two games for the Sox and done some excellent relief pitching. He predicted he would be a regular before long. He also stated he still had confidence in Luke Appling. The Atlanta boy had a hard time last year. He took his errors too much to heart and being a bit shy, lost heart under Donie Bush's well-meaning but biting tongue.

The scout was joyful in receiving the news that Appling made three hits against the Athletics yesterday, including a home run. He said Lou Fousee was handling him a little differently and he is doing better.

GETS YOUNG STARS.

Largent was the man who signed Carl Reynolds, Art Shires, Bruce Campbell and Lefty Watson for the Sox. He picked Reynolds off a college campus in Texas without putting out a nickel for him. He recalled Campbell from Little Rock last year and he was immediately traded to the Browns for the Browns.

"That trade and the swap of Reynolds to Washington were the only two made by the Sox which hurt them in my estimation," Largent said. Campbell immediately became a star with the Browns, while Kress hasn't been going so well. Reynolds went pitching at Washington until his unfortunate run-in with the pugacious Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher.

Largent is interested in Walter Beck, Memphis star pitcher, and Peck Hamel, the heavy hitting Cracker outfielder. He believes Hamel despite his size will go in the majors. Size in a hitter doesn't matter, Largent said, but he likes his pitchers large. He also is on the lookout for a catcher, but they are few and far between in the Southern this year.

OBSTACLE.

Like other scouts, Largent finds chain store baseball a big obstacle in ivory hunting. He can't touch any of the prospects as Chattanooga as they all belong to Washington. Comiskey, his old boss, didn't believe in farms but in self-defense had to establish working agreements at Dallas and Atlanta. That's where Shires, whom Largent says would have been a star with the Sox if he hadn't got mixed up with all this "what-ham" stuff. He is proving his worth with the Braves.

Largent believes the Crackers made a big mistake in returning Lou Garland, the giant right-hander to Dallas. He has won eight games and lost two with the Steers. Hap Morse, Dallas manager, as a clubhouse in which Garland warms up for relief work in night games, call it "Garland's office." The big fellow has developed control and is certain to stick with the Sox next year, Largent says. Maybe that's one the Crackers really muffed.

VIOLET VALLI GOES TO COURT

DRESSER REVEALS VOL MANAGER

CHICAGO, July 7.—(AP)—William "Bill" Jurgens, star Chicago Cub shortstop, today refused to sign a complaint against Miss Violet Valli, attractive blonde who shot him twice and then attempted her own life, but the police decided to prosecute her.

Policeman Michael Far, the first officer to reach the hotel room where the shooting occurred, signed a complaint and the 21-year-old brunet was ordered to appear in felony court tomorrow on the charge of assault with intent to kill.

Miss Valli refused to discuss the case. Mr. John Davis said Jurgens probably would be able to return to the game within three or four weeks.

Roby To Present All-Star Ring Card

Roby's arena, at Courtland and Cain streets, will be the scene of another boxing card Monday night, with Kid Laguna, of Cuba, meeting Gene Thomas, of Atlanta, in the 10-round feature bout. Thirty rounds of boxing and one colored heavyweight wrestling match will be offered.

Kid Laguna returns to an Atlanta ring after a year of activity in Florida and eastern rings. He is one of the most colorful fighters in the ring and has never been knocked out in over 100 fights.

Sailor Ron, popular Atlanta welter, meets Jack Newton in another feature. Born has won his last 10 fights.

Hicks Is Second In Golf Tourney

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—Mr. Leo Federman, of Glen Oaks, L. I., today scored a record-breaking 75 over the Women's National Golf and Tennis Club course to take a three-stroke lead over the field in the first round of the National Golf and Tennis Association tournament.

Helen Hicks, the national champion, tied with Rosalie Knapp, of the home course, each with a 78, for second place. Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, of New Orleans, 1931 Long Island champion, was away off form and had an 88 for the first of the three rounds scheduled. Her score might have been up in the 90's but for the fact that she holed a long iron shot out of a bunker for an eagle three on the thirteenth hole.

A freak one-night bowling tournament has been scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight at the Atlanta Bowling Alleys.

The players will alternate and will bowl while the stadium is filled with one hand in a pocket and while sitting in a chair. Prizes will be given to the winners and competitors will be among teams of four players each.

CRACKERS WIN OVER PELICANS

Bunny Hearn's Fine Pitching Aids in 2-to-0 Victory.

Bunny Hearn reached a new peak of southpaw effectiveness last night and came up with a dazzling pitching performance to shut out the New Orleans Pelicans with five hits. The score was 2 to 0 and the losing pitcher was none other than "Bull" Rauch, former wearer of an Atlanta uniform, who did a pretty good bit of work himself.

The Bull, who made several attempts with the Crackers a few years ago and then retired temporarily, gave up only six hits and struck out four Crackers. It was a case of Bunny Hearn right instead of Bunny Hearn wrong, and when the little port-star at his best, he is a very tough customer to lick in a hurling duel.

This morning the Pels are only a jump ahead of the Crackers at the lower extremity of the standings and there should be plenty of rivalry to get each other in a double-header.

The first game starts at 2:30 p. m. Hearn will pitch Lefty Carithers in the first and probably Ruben Marquardt in the nightcap, while Jakey Atz, New Orleans leader, announced Fred Johnson and Sal Glatto as his shooters.

The Crackers got their runs early last night and the brace of them proved a sufficiency. In the second inning, Mule Shirley walked, took second while Johnny Parks pegged out Cummings, took third on Chatham's infield put and scored on Keis' single to left.

In the next inning, Rauch's miscalculation at the plate put Barron on via a base on balls and Bobby Goff moved him down with a sacrifice. He stole third and scored on Rosenblatt's fly to center.

Atz senters in a flurry of pinch-hitters late in the game, but to no avail. Bruno Hase doubled with two down in the ninth, but the next batter, Barron, announced last night that he would give a tryout to Red McKennie, young pitcher from Maryland, recommended by Clingens Bluff. He has been out on the coast all season.

SIX FORMER CHAMPIONS ENTER STATE TOURNEY

CHARLIE YATES DEFENDS TITLE AGAINST STARS

Capital City Course To Open for Practice on Sunday.

By Roy White.

Six former champions with the possibility of a seventh, and two finalists, will lead the parade of the state's best golfers over the Capital City Country Club course next week in the sixteenth annual Georgia state amateur golf championship tournament.

Charlie Yates, the East Lake youth who won the crown last July at Sea Island Beach, will head the parade, which includes Dave Black, Capital City star; John Oliver, Valdosta; Charlie Black Jr., Capital City; Chick Ridley and C. V. Rainwater Sr., Perry Adair, who is playing better now than during the past two years, and who won the title in 1922, in the seventh possibility among the former champions.

SAVANNAH ACES.

Dean and Kayton Smith, the Savannah brothers, who were runners-up in 1931 and 1929, respectively, are the finalists to take the field who are certain to offer strong competition. Only Bobby Jones, the first winner in 1916; Watts Gunn, now living in Pittsburgh; Gene Cook, professional at the James L. Key course; Montgomery Harrison, deceased of Augusta; and Noble Hardee, Savannah, will be missing as the 1932 tourney gets under way Tuesday morning.

Qualifying rounds at 18 holes will be played Tuesday morning, starting at 8 o'clock, with first-round matches slated for Wednesday.

The Capital City course will be open for the state play starting at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and only those players whose entry fee has been paid will be permitted to practice during Sunday and Monday.

OFFICIALS.

Colonel Lowry Arnold, president of the Georgia State Amateur Golf Association, announced Thursday that Paul Dike, Keith Conway, Veazy Rainwater Sr., the association secretary-treasurer, and Robert H. Martin, together with Howard Beckett and Willie Livingstone, the club professionals, will be in charge of the tournament. Other officials and directors of the state association will assist the tournament committee.

The entries are urged to register at the Capital City Club as early as possible in order that available starting times can be assigned to related entries. Participants who register early will be given preference in the qualifying starting times.

HOUSE VOTES MEDALS FOR 4 NOTED AIRMEN

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—Four celebrated aviators—Harold Gatty and Wiley Post, round-the-world fliers, and Russell N. Boardman and John L. Polando, who flew from the United States to Turkey—were voted distinguished flying crosses Wednesday by the house.

The bill now goes to the senate for agreement to a minor amendment.

SANITY TRIAL BY JURY GRANTED E. Y. CLARKE

CHICAGO, July 7.—(AP)—A sanity trial by jury was granted today to Edward Young Clarke, former inmate of the Ku Klux Klan and lately promoter of the now disbanded KKK movement for prosperity. An attorney moved for the jury hearing and continuance to allow the promoter a "physical rest."

THE SPORTLIGHT By Krawltown Rice

The Perfect Runner.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 7.—There is no official record of how many lanterns Diogenes wore out in looking for an honest man, but the output was more than a carload.

If Diogenes had been a track and field coach he would have had just as much trouble in locating some athlete blessed with perfect form. Bobby Jones, for example, was the top of form in golf, but he would never claim perfection for his swing. Walter Johnson, the Coffeyville cyclone, carried more style and form than any pitcher I ever saw. But there were flaws.

When you get into the matter of track and field athletics, most coaches and trainers are on the cynical side, much after the manner of football coaches.

NAME OF WILL ROGERS PUTS CANDIDATE AHEAD

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 7.—(AP) Proving there's plenty in a name, Will Rogers, rural schoolmaster, perched at the top of the ticket for the democratic nomination as congressman-at-large tonight, put there by a rush of late-counted ballots.

Perspiring tabulators, who didn't count Rogers' ballots until it became apparent that thousands of Oklahomans voted for a household name, still were many precincts behind on the candidate, but a tabulation, nevertheless, showed:

Rogers, 2,911 precincts out of 3,200; 52,602 votes.
Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state charities commissioner and foe of Governor William Henry Murray, 3,203 precincts out of 3,200; 51,907 votes.
Former Congressman E. B. Howard, 3,203 precincts out of 3,200; 47,551.

Voters who apparently thought they were voting for the Claremore humorist, even gave Rogers second place in Rogers county, home of the cowboy comedian. The two are not related.
"Sure—My name's been Will for years," said Rogers today. "I was named Willie, but that's a girl's name and I decided to use Will."
Riding a comeback after several years of unsuccessful candidacy, J. C. (Jack) Walton, ousted governor, drew a long lead from late returns for the democratic nomination as state corporation commissioner. A. S. J. Shaw, former state auditor, held second place over the incumbent, C. C. Childers. There will be a run-off.

There was no change during the day in the apparent congressional results, with Senator Elmer Thomas due for a run-off with Gomer Smith, Oklahoma city attorney, for democratic senatorial nomination and four out of eight representatives—W. W. Hastings, F. B. Swan, Tom McKeown and J. V. McClintic—facing run-offs July 26. All four are democrats.

2 Killed, 10 Entombed In Collapse of Mine

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 7.—(AP) Two miners were killed and seven injured and 10 entombed by falling coal in the Edna No. 1 mine of the John Carr Coal Company today.
Nine rescue crews were rushed to the scene, about nine miles west of Greensburg.
Whether any of the entombed men were hurt was not determined. The report to the coroner said that a huge piece of coal fell, blocking the mine passage.

NEW RADIO STATION PLANNED FOR HIALEAH

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company says it will establish a new radio station at Hialeah, Fla., this year to be used in extension of radio-telephone service to half a dozen Latin American republics.
Equipment has been ordered for the station. It will be used to send messages to Panama, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Colombia and Venezuela and others.

GOLDEN BEARS, CREW OF YALE TRIAL WINNERS

Penn A. C. and Columbia
Graduates Also Qualify for Finals.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 7.—(AP) The crews of the University of California, the Penn A. C., Yale and the Columbia graduates, swept to victories today in the trial heats of the Olympic rowing trials over the 2,000-meter course on Lake Quinsigamond.

The Golden Bears easily qualified as the regatta's outstanding favorite with their mastery length and a half triumph over the Princeton Rowing Club's eight.

The Penn A. C., never headed in its last 24 starts, finished two and a half lengths in front of the Syracuse eight.
The keeneast blade work came when the Columbia graduates with six of the Lions' 1929 intercollegiate champions in action, nosed out Harvard's fighting crew by a scant two feet in the most exciting race ever rowed in this ornamental paradise.

Mighty Jerry Cassidy drove the Crimson at a terrific pace and was slightly in front up to the last 50 yards. Columbia then pulled up even and with its last two strokes, poked its shell out in front. The Lions' time of minutes 4:54.5 seconds was the best time of the nine crews.

Yale's great eight, unexpectedly crushed by Harvard in the recent London regatta, gained the last semi-final berth by defeating the runner-up Washington crew by a half length and the California junior varsity by two and a half lengths.

The Golden Bears jumped off fast and had a commanding lead at the halfway mark. Only then did they drop the stroke to a smooth 36 that they kept across the finish line 6 and 1-5 seconds ahead of Princeton.

California will oppose the Columbia eight in the upper half's semi-final tomorrow, while the Penn crew will match strokes with Yale.

SANDLOT LOOP SLATE REVISED

In order that both sandlot leagues may play out their schedules and get in a city series between now and July 27, Major Trammell Scott yesterday announced a revision in the league schedule, calling for four games to be played in the Northside league next week and five in the Southside.

This arrangement will permit the leagues to get through with their schedules in plenty of time to decide the entrant for the state tournament tomorrow.

Games of yesterday were rained out. Following is the new schedule:

NORTHIDE LEAGUE.
July 11—Northside Rebels vs. Eastside Rebels, N. E. Piedmont; Eastside Rebels vs. N. W. Piedmont; Eastside Rebels vs. N. E. Piedmont; Eastside Rebels vs. N. W. Piedmont; Eastside Rebels vs. N. E. Piedmont; Eastside Rebels vs. N. W. Piedmont.

SOUTHIDE LEAGUE.
July 11—Southside Aces vs. Southside Braves, Lakewood Heights vs. Lakewood Heights, Grant Park vs. Grant Park, Grant Park vs. Grant Park, Grant Park vs. Grant Park, Grant Park vs. Grant Park, Grant Park vs. Grant Park.

UNIFORM PLAN SOUGHT FOR U. S. FURLONGS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—Administration officials have begun a determined effort to find one uniform method of applying equally to all branches of labor warrents the 30-day furlough imposed by the national economy act.

The five-day week today appeared the most probable means of achieving this. It would be applied, except for specific conditions preventing it, in a limited number of cases, to all employees whether wage earners or salaried workers. It would eliminate all vacations or leave without pay during the year.

$39,000,000 IS SPENT
FOR MISSIONS ABROAD

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—Last year Americans spent $39,000,000 abroad in missionary, educational and charitable contributions, announced the department of commerce, but did not receive any such contributions from foreign lands.

Hill Sacrifices Chances And Gives Pint of Blood

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 7.—(UP)—A drama richer in romance and sacrifice than any movie story was enacted here today when Doyless Hill, national intercollegiate boxing champion, and his fiancée, who is critically ill, played the lead roles.

At the risk of sacrificing his hopes for the Olympic heavyweight title, Hill today gave pint of blood for a transfusion to Peggy O'Neal, his "coach and manager," who is suffering from anemia, an aftermath of sunstroke.

Hill, who was scheduled to leave Sunday for the west coast to enter the Olympic trials, appeared with bandages on both arms from which the blood was taken, at Tulane University gymnasium for a workout, but boxing coaches refused to let him work. Physicians reported he would be unable to workout for a week or two and that loss of blood would materially affect his boxing ability and stamina.

Unless his fiancée shows considerable improvement before Sunday Hill said he probably would not go to Olympic finals.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—The renomination of Edgar B. Brossard, of Utah, to the tariff commission was confirmed today by the senate over the opposition of Senator Costigan, democrat, Colorado.

Brossard was confirmed without a record vote immediately after the senate rejected, 31 to 26, a motion by Costigan to recommend the nomination to the finance committee.

LOUISIANA'S SOLONS CLOSE TAX SESSION

BATON ROUGE, La., July 7.—(AP) Leaving promises of tax relief to a proposed special session next January, the Louisiana legislature adjourned sine die just after midnight with taxation and economy the theme throughout.

To the end a preponderant administration majority clung to the dictates of Governor O. K. Allen and Senator Huey P. Long, who, during the height of the session, used his "Kingfish rule" to put through the Allen five-point taxing program.

Summer Sun is Ruin to your HAIR

YOUR canoeing and your tennis and swimming are great . . . but don't forget what can happen to your hair. For water can drown the oils out of your scalp. These months of bareheaded sport mean special care for your hair, unless you want to ruin its health and looks.

And special care means Vitalis . . . the Vitalis 60-Second Workout. A vigorous one-minute rub with this pure vegetable oil preparation will restore the natural oils that nourish your hair. You'll get rid of all that dryness and loose dandruff—and the threat of falling hair to follow.

Get the habit of giving your scalp a regular Vitalis 60-Second Workout before going out in the sun, and after your shower when you come in. Your hair will take on new life and natural lustre . . . and it will stay put from morning to night!

The 60-Second Workout does it . .

Before you brave the sun, massage your scalp with Vitalis, for 60 seconds. It protects your hair!

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Stocks lacked the stamina to withstand a late selling flurry today and closing prices of many leaders were 1 to 3 points net lower.

Late Louisiana advances received here during trading hours spoke optically of a settlement. German bonds, nevertheless, turned reactionary, perhaps because of taking up their recent seasonal advance.

The domestic categories were generally steady to firm, especially United States governments.

In stocks, conspicuous weakness cropped out in International Shoe, which dropped 6 3/4 to 20 1/4 and finished near the low. International Business Machines advanced 6 points while United States Steel preferred, Coca-Cola and National Lead lost 2 or more.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Average closed higher for both foreign and domestic issues in the bond market today.

After an early advance to new high levels for the year, the German 5-1/2s reacted for a net loss of 3 1/2 points, and the 1s dropped 1 1/2 points. German municipals were off 1 to around 3 to 4 points. Other foreign governments retained their recent firmness.

Nickel Plate 6s closed at 35, off 5 points. Gains of 1 to over 2 points were made by bonds of the Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific and Southern railway.

Industrial and utility bonds were fairly active.

United States government bonds were firm.

Total transactions today were $12,711,000 par value of bonds against $11,961,000 yesterday.

Highlights of Wall Street

BY CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, Morning Service of Wall Street.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 7.—The effort made by a number of big speculators to get the market higher in anticipation of favorable news from the Lausanne conference collapsed today despite news that progress had been made with regard to reparations and foreign debts.

A general selling movement developed which carried prices down sharply, in some instances, notably American Telephone & Telegraph, to a new low record level.

Reliable reports that a tentative agreement had been reached between France and Germany failed to stimulate or attract public participation in the market.

The ease and sharpness with which the general list sold off indicated that unless there were highly favorable developments overnight the downward trend probably will be in evidence again tomorrow.

Speculators in stocks, bonds, and commodities apparently decided today to take profits, because speculative selling in all three markets developed almost simultaneously.

German bonds, a feature of strength the last few days, again continued upward, touching new high prices for the movement, but the higher level of quotations induced speculative profit taking.

Speculators on the long side of wheat and cotton considered the time opportune to convert paper profits into cash with the result that selling developed in those commodities.

There is an old axiom in Wall Street that if the market cannot be put up then it must be sold, and this policy would seem to have been adopted by speculators disgusted at the failure of the stock list to continue advancing following their recent buying.

Some of the big operators who gained considerable notoriety through their "bull" campaign, but who have been quiet during the recent investigation, are understood to be taking an active interest in the market on the bear side again.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR COTTON STATES

North Carolina: Partly cloudy, probably scattered showers Friday; Saturday generally fair.

Georgia and South Carolina: Partly cloudy with scattered thunder-showers Friday; Saturday generally fair.

Florida: Generally fair Friday and Saturday, except probably local thunder-showers in extreme north portion Friday and in northeast portion Saturday.

Tennessee: Generally fair Friday and Saturday; Saturday, however, with scattered showers.

Louisiana: Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday.

Mississippi: Partly cloudy, somewhat unsettled in north portion Friday; Saturday, partly cloudy.

Alabama: Partly cloudy, except scattered thunder-showers Friday; Saturday, partly cloudy.

Extreme Northwest Florida: Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday.

Arkansas: Partly cloudy, possibly thunder-showers in northeast portion Friday; Saturday, partly cloudy.

Oklahoma: Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday.

East Texas: Partly cloudy to unsettled Friday and Saturday.

West Texas: Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday, except local thunder-showers in south portion Friday.

RAINS ADVANCE PRICE OF SOUTHERN COTTON

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 7.—(UP)—Higher prices for cotton are offsetting continuous rain, water-logging the rice state and other sections of the south.

W. M. Landess, Shelby county agent, said the heavy rain here would cut the cotton yield in this section 15 per cent and that the boll weevil, perennial enemy of the staple, has moved into the Mississippi delta.

Offsetting this was the promise of fair weather by the department of agriculture report and news of higher prices. A slight gain was shown today after net $1.30 leap per bale yesterday.

REFINED SUGAR HITS 4-CENT-A-POUND LEVEL

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Some sugar companies today announced an advance of 10 points in the price of refined to 4 cents a pound, effective at the close of business Friday.

While leading local refiners failed to advance their price, the trade expected that the 4-cent quotation would be generally in effect before the end of the week, barring an upset in the market for raw sugar.

The upward revision was considered a natural result of the recent sharp advance in future and spot in the raw sugar market.

Refiners who announced a 4-cent basis today included the Pennsylvania, Reverse, Savannah, Western and California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining companies.
